Moore, 2005-02-17 Affirmative action was meant to redress the lingering vestiges of the discrimination and exclusion so prominent in America's past and afford underrepresented groups the opportunities most take for granted Its impact on higher learning has been immeasurable diversity is part of the mission of most colleges and universities and exposure to a variety of ethnicities cultures and perspectives benefits all Yet institutions are scrambling to reevaluate their mission and methods as courts mandate colorblind admissions and affirmative action is misconstrued and attacked as reverse discrimination patronizing and insulting to minorities or simply unnecessary Diversity has plummeted on many campuses as a result and elite institutions now struggle to enroll underrepresented groups Discussions of the controversy reflect little understanding of the role of race in college admissions ignore the fact that eligibility does not guarantee admission and falsely cast affirmative action as a policy based on race alone This assessment of the role of race in college admissions examines misconceptions surrounding affirmative action and the place of race in the admission process Chapters explore declining diversity the effect upon professional schools the historical perspective of the subject the courts role in affirmative action inequities in the admissions process percentage plans as an alternative the detrimental results of colorblind
