guidelines for these assessments of climate policy options The core idea is to scientifically explore the various practical implications of alternative climate policy pathways in an interdisciplinary manner together with diverse stakeholders This could facilitate an iterative deliberative public learning process concerning disputed policy issues This volume makes novel contributions to three strands of the literature 1 the philosophy of social science in policy 2 the philosophy of economics and 3 debates about the design of scientific assessments including the continuous IPCC reform debate This work is thus interesting for philosophers and other scholars reflecting on the science policy interface but also for assessment practitioners climate policy makers and economists The science policy approach developed in this volume has already influenced the recent socio economic IPCC assessment
