Anderson, 1984 From Epic to Canon Frank Moore Cross, 1998 In From Epic to Canon Frank Moore Cross discusses specific issues that illuminate central questions about the Hebrew Bible and those who created and preserved it He challenges the persistent attempt to read Protestant theological polemic against law into ancient Israel Cross uncovers the continuities between the institutions of kinship and of covenant which he describes as extended kinship He examines the social structures of ancient Israel and reveals that beneath its later social and cultural accretions the concept of covenant as opposed to codified law was a vital part of Israel's earliest institutions He then draws parallels between the expression of kinship and covenant among the Israelites and that practiced by other ancient societies as well as in primitive societies

The Golden Horns John L. Greenway, 1977 As an introduction to modern myth The Golden Horns masterfully encompasses a wide circle of historical and literary materials John Greenway first establishes the theoretical base of his discussion by examining the nature of time in Norse mythic consciousness After suggesting several ways in which the mythic apprehension of reality conditioned medieval Icelandic narrative he then elaborates on the dialectical relationship between myth and reason Maintaining that myth is neither true nor false but always either expressive or not the author then traces the origin rise and fall of two great modern myths of northern birth seventeenth century Swedish Gothicism and the Ossianic craze of the eighteenth century both of which illustrate the singular tension in the modern mind between mythic imperatives and the impulse to de-mythologize Finally The Golden Horns traces the romantic belief in a new mythology which synthesizes myth and reason from its early acceptance through its eventual repudiation In his conclusions about the state of myth in the modern world Greenway postulates that we have inherited the romantic respect for myth as truth but lack the romantic faith in transcendence necessary to establish myth's reality Consequently we express our mythic consciousness of who we are in quasi scientific language consciously manipulating mythic symbols for social control Journal of the History of
