Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world's disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches

Asia to a leading education hub Moreover many governments declared that they would work on the insurance of learning to increase the quality of the degrees and the teaching itself This has led many to question the results of these declarations Higher Education Challenges in South East Asia provides an overview of what has been happening over the last ten years in higher education in South East Asia It also works to solve the challenges in modern education such as the impacts of digitalization globalization and Generation Y and Z learning styles Covering topics that include globalization educational technologies and comparative teaching this book impacts academic institutions policymakers government officials university and college administrators and leaders academicians researchers and students Inside Education Stephen
