Mothers, Infants and Young Children of September 11, 2001 Beatrice Beebe, Phyllis Cohen, K. Mark Sossin, Sara Markese, 2013-09-13 The group of papers presented in this volume represents ten years of involvement of a group of eight core therapists working originally with approximately forty families who suffered the loss of husbands and fathers on September 11, 2001. The project focuses on the families of women who were pregnant and widowed in the disaster or of women who were widowed with an infant born in the previous year. This book maps the support and services provided without cost to the families by the primary prevention project the September 11, 2001 Mothers, Infants and Young Children Project, organised by a highly trained group of therapists specialising in adult child, mother, infant and family treatment as well as in nonverbal communication. The demands of the crisis led these therapists to expand on their psychoanalytic training, fostering new approaches to meeting the needs of these families. They sought out these families, offering support groups for mothers and their infants and young children in the mothers' own neighbourhoods. They also brought the families to mother-child videotaped play sessions at the New York State Psychiatric Institute at Columbia University, followed by video feedback and consultation sessions. In 2011, marking the 10th anniversary of the World Trade Center tragedy, the Project continues to provide services without cost for these mothers who lost their husbands, for their infants who are now approximately ten years old, and for the siblings of these children. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Infant, Child and Adolescent Psychotherapy.

The Public and Private Management of Grief Caroline Pearce, 2019-05-09 Through a critical analysis of theory policy and practice The Public and Private Management of Grief looks at how recovery is the prevailing discourse that measures and frames how people grieve and considers what happens when people fail to recover Pearce draws on in depth interviews with bereaved people and a range of bereavement professionals to contemplate how failures to recover are socially perceived and acted upon Grounded in Foucauldian theory this book problematises the notion of recovery and instead argues for the acknowledgment of the experience of non recovery highlighting how recovery is a socially and historically constructed notion linked to the individualised vision of health and happiness promoted by neo liberal governmentality This book will be of interest to our approach to loss from the Gettysburg Address through 9 11 She examines how the American version of grief has spread to the rest of the world and contrasts it with the interpretations of other cultures like the Chinese who focus more on their bond with the deceased than on the emotional impact of bereavement Konigsberg also offers a close look at K bler Ross herself who she borrowed from to come up with her theory and how she went from being a pioneering psychiatrist to a New Age healer who sought the guidance of two spirits named Salem and Pedro and declared that death did not exist Deeply researched and provocative The Truth About Grief draws on history culture and science to upend our country s most entrenched beliefs about its most common experience

Trans-generational Trauma and the Other Sue Grand,Jill Salberg,2016-12-19 Often our trans generational legacies are stories of us and them that never reach their terminus We carry fixed narratives and the ghosts of our perpetrators and of our victims We long to be subjects in our own history but keep reconstituting the Other as an object in their own history Trans generational Trauma and the Other argues that healing requires us to engage with the Other who carries a corresponding pre history Without this dialogue alienated ghosts can become persecutory objects in psyche politics and culture This volume examines the violent loyalties of the past the barriers to dialogue with our Other and complicates the inter subjectivity of Big History Identifying our inherited narratives and relinquishing splitting these authors ask how we can re cast our Other and move beyond dysfunctional repetitions in our individual lives and in society Featuring rich clinical material Trans generational Trauma and the Other provides an invaluable guide to expanding the application of trans generational transmission in psychoanalysis It will appeal to psychoanalysts psychoanalytic psychotherapists and trauma experts
