Industrial Policy and the World Trade Organization Sherzod Shadikhodjaev, 2018-11-08 The severe global financial crisis of 2008 could not be overcome without government interventions through industrial policy. This timely book analyses industrial policy from the perspectives of trade law and economics under the WTO system. The author expertly examines both general tools of protecting and supporting domestic producers and specific topics like special economic zones, localization, greening measures and creative economy. In addition to legal texts and jurisprudence this book extensively utilizes other WTO materials to show what is actually discussed in WTO meetings and forums on relevant issues. Where applicable the author advances practical recommendations for right or optimal industrial policy in certain contexts based on trade rules, case law and some countries' real experiences. The author concludes this work with some thoughts on concrete actions to be taken at the WTO and national levels and in academic circles in order to better tackle industrial policy issues.

The European Union and the Evolving Architectures of International Economic Agreements Ottavio Quirico, Katarzyna Kwapisz Williams, 2023-07-25 The European Union EU is promoting a suite of innovations in international economic regulation among them reforms for secure and sustainable investment a comprehensive approach to the mutual recognition of professional qualifications a viable carbon border adjustment mechanism heightened intellectual property rights protection the arm's length principle in taxation and an increased commitment to non economic values Through a critical analysis of key regulations and policies this volume explores the evolving architectures of international economic agreements in light of EU practice A comprehensive analysis indicates that novelties are rooted in geoeconomic considerations through which a fundamental shift is underway towards the adoption of comprehensive bilateral trade agreements Whilst innovation has the potential to significantly harmonise cross border regulatory frameworks it can also trigger significant fractures particularly when applied restrictively and asymmetrically Arguably the Brussels effect will to a certain extent foster a progressive development of international economic regulation while in some respects being constrained by the status quo of the international economic regime This volume is part of the Jean Monnet project Third Country Engagement with EU Trade Policy led by the ANU Centre for European Studies at the Australian National University and supported by the European Commission under the Erasmus actions The project seeks to explore and improve understanding of the EU's evolving trade policy and its implications for third countries including Australia and countries in the Asia Pacific region

Digital Trade and Data Privacy Roman Pascal Kalin, 2024-11-26 This monograph provides a comprehensive examination of the intricate legal challenges arising at the intersection of digital trade and data privacy It argues in favour of an integrated approach to understanding the dynamic interaction between digital trade and data privacy with the aim of building a bridge between these two fields of law Cross border data flows are paramount for the operational efficiency and productivity of companies across diverse industries The ongoing economic transformation characterized by the perception of data as both a commodity and currency exacerbates the tension between the push for economic liberalization of cross border transfers of personal data under a trade rationale and the limitations imposed on such transfers for non economic reasons Given that the regulation of cross border personal data transfers is profoundly influenced by both international trade law and national data privacy laws a complex relationship has developed between the normative values that underpin these legal frameworks This publication centers on the resulting interdependence of digital trade and data privacy in a global digital economy It provides a contribution to the debate on a re contextualisation of trade law against the background of the advent of digital trade Coherence and Divergence in Services Trade Law Rhea Tamara Hoffmann,Markus Krajewski,2020-07-23 This book addresses topical questions concerning the legal framework of trade in services and assesses how these issues are dealt with in GATS and in selected preferential trade agreements In addition the chapters discuss whether the differences and similarities if any are evidence of greater coherence or greater divergence The book combines the individual analyses to provide a more comprehensive picture of the current law on services trade liberalisation A quarter of a century after the conclusion of the General Agreement on Trade and Services GATS international law on trade in services is still in a state of flux on the one hand countries increasingly conclude bilateral and regional trade agreements with sections on trade in services that aim at a further liberalisation of services trade On the other the GATS structure remains the dominant model and serves as the basis for many preferential trade agreements In addition new aspects such as electronic commerce data protection and taxation are now emerging while issues that had already manifested in the mid 1990s such as financial services regulation labour mobility and telecommunications continue to be problematic Usually the debates focus on the question of whether preferential trade agreements serve as a stepping stone or stumbling block for trade liberalisation at the multilateral level However it can be assumed that rules on trade in services in preferential trade agreements will coexist with the global GATS regime for the foreseeable future This raises the question of whether we re currently witnessing a drive towards greater coherence or more divergence in agreements on trade in services
