Cities, Slums and Gender in the Global South Sylvia Chant, Cathy McIlwaine, 2015-12-22. Developing regions are set to account for the vast majority of future urban growth and women and girls will become the majority inhabitants of these locations in the Global South. This is one of the first books to detail the challenges facing poorer segments of the female population who commonly reside in slums. It explores the variegated disadvantages of urban poverty and slum dwelling from a gender perspective. This book revolves around conceptualisation of the gender urban slum interface which explains key elements to understanding women's experiences in slum environments. It has a specific focus on the ways in which gender inequalities can be entrenched but also alleviated. Included is a review of the demographic factors which are increasingly making cities everywhere feminised spaces such as increased rural urban migration among women, demographic ageing and rising proportions of female headed households in urban areas. Discussions focus in particular on education, paid and unpaid work, access to land, property and urban services, violence, intra urban mobility and political participation and representation. This book will be of use to researchers and professionals concerned with gender and development, urbanisation and rural urban migration.

Malaysia and the Muslim World: Harnessing the OIC Market Through Trade and Islamic Finance (UUM Press) Irwan Shah Zainal Abidin, 2021-03-01. As the collective voice of the Muslim world and as the second largest inter governmental organisation after the United Nations, the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) is without doubt the best platform for the Muslim community or the Ummah to address issues which have afflicted them in so many ways, be it politically, economically or socially. Since September 11, 2001, Islam and the Islamic community worldwide has been attacked into so many unjust accusations which is now known as Islamophobia. The basic premise of this book is that one of the main factors which caused this unnecessary prejudice, hate and fear against Islam and the Muslim world is the fact that the Muslim community has failed to optimally harness its economic potentials to build a greater and stable political and social community which they have all the capacities to become. This book argues that one of the solutions to overcome this state of affair is for a few like minded countries in the OIC like Malaysia to initiate policies and programmes of economic empowerment for the Muslim world. This can be done by enhancing Malaysia OIC trade and investment linkages and promoting crucial sectors such as Islamic finance and Islamic social finance. This book is not merely to provide detailed discussions on these issues based on the empirical results but also highlighted some policy implications and provides future directions for Malaysia to play a crucial role in unlocking the economic potentials of the Ummah so that it can be strengthened further for the betterment of the Muslim world at large Urban Policy in Latin America Michael Cohen, Maria Carrizosa, Margarita Gutman, 2019-07-26 This book evaluates the impact of 20 years of urban policies in six Latin American countries Argentina Brazil Chile Colombia Ecuador and Mexico It argues that evaluating the fulfillment of past commitments is essential for framing and meeting the new commitments that were taken in Habitat III over the next 20 years Taken as a whole the book provides a critical assessment of the economic social and environmental consequences of urban interventions during Habitat II The country level chapters have been written by recognized experts in urban issues with first hand knowledge of the Habitat process and deep familiarity with the problems statistics actors and political contexts of their nations The latter part of the volume considers wider topics such as the Habitat Commitment Index the New Urban Agenda and the regional and global scale lessons that can be extracted from this group of countries Urban Policy in Latin America will be of interest to advanced students researchers and policymakers across development economics urban studies and Latin American studies Biodesign Paul G. Political Settlements and Development Tim Kelsall, Nicolai Schulz, William D. Ferguson, Matthias vom Hau, Sam Hickey, Brian Levy, 2022-05-05 Few concepts have captured the imagination of the conflict and development community in recent years as powerfully as the idea of a political settlement At its most ambitious political settlements analysis PSA promises to explain why conflicts occur and states collapse the conditions for their successful rehabilitation different developmental pathways from peace and how to better fit development policy to country context Yet not all is well in the world of PSA Rival definitions of the term abound there are disagreements about its scope and the way it should be used a growing schism between conflict specialists and economists basic concepts are ambiguous and little progress has been made on measurement Political Settlements and Development consequently has three main aims to argue for a revised definition of a political settlement capable of unifying its diverse strands and opening new opportunities for the analysis of conflict and development to put the concept on a more solid theoretical and scientific footing providing a method for measuring and categorising political settlements while using new data to analyse the relationship between political settlements and development and finally to examine the implications for policymakers This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations

50 Years of Central Banking in Kenya Patrick Njoroge, Victor Murinde, 2021-04-01 Documenting important milestones in the epic journey traversed by the Central Bank of Kenya CBK over the last 50 years 50 Years of Central Banking in Kenya puts into perspective the evolution of central banking globally and within the East African region and contemplates future prospects and challenges The volume is timely mainly because within the last 50 years the global financial landscape has shifted Central bankers have expanded their mandates beyond the singular focus on inflation and consider economic growth as their other important objective Bank regulation has moved from Basel I to Basel II and some countries have fully migrated to Basel III while some are still at the cross roads 50 Years of Central Banking in Kenya captures the wide ranging discussions on central banking from a symposium to celebrate the 50 year anniversary on 13 September 2016 in Nairobi The participants at the symposium included current and former central bank governors from Kenya and the East Africa region high level officials from multilateral financial institutions policy makers executives of commercial banks in Kenya private sector practitioners civil society agents executives and researchers from think tanks based in Kenya and the Africa region leading academics in banking and finance and university students Beyond the symposium the volume highlights the evolution of specific functions of CBK over the last 50 years such as monetary policy bank regulation and payments system as well as developments in Kenya's financial system which strongly relate to the functionality of CBK such as financial innovation the evolution of financial markets and non bank financial institutions in Kenya The Big Business of Small Enterprises World Bank,2015-02-13 The World Bank Group promotes small and medium enterprise SME growth through both systemic and targeted interventions Targeting means focusing benefits on one size class of firms to the exclusion of others Targeted support for SMEs is a big business for the World Bank Group averaging around 3 billion a year in commitments expenditures and gross exposure over the 2006-12 period In the context of broader reforms such targeted support can be a powerful tool Targeting SMEs is not an end in itself but a means to create economies that can employ more people and create more opportunity for citizens to achieve prosperity A thriving and growing SME sector is associated with rapidly growing economies A central challenge is to level the economic playing field by ensuring dynamic markets strengthening market support institutions and removing constraints to participation IEG found that financial sector development can have both a pro growth and pro poor impact by alleviating SMEs financing constraints enabling new entry of firms and entrepreneurs and better resource allocation Layered on top of this are targeted forms of assistance these interventions may build on a foundation of more systemic reforms may come in tandem with them or may in fact be a means to build systemic reforms from the bottom up Any credible justification of targeted support to SMEs must be focused on establishing well functioning markets and institutions not simply providing a temporary supply of benefits to a small group of firms during a project's lifespan Thus targeted interventions need to leverage resources to produce broader benefits for institutions and markets To make targeted support for SMEs more effective the World Bank Group needs to do several things Clarify its approach to targeted support to SMEs Enhance the support's relevance and additionality Institute a tailored research agenda Strengthen guidance and quality control for such support Reform MIGA's Small Investment Program The Paris Framework for Climate Change Capacity Building Mizan R Khan,J. Timmons Roberts,Saleemul Huq,Victoria Hoffmeister,2018-04-09 The Paris Framework for Climate Change Capacity Building pioneers a new era of climate change governance performing the foundational job of clarifying what is meant by the often ad hoc one off uncoordinated ineffective and unsustainable practices of the past decade described as capacity building to address climate change As an alternative this book presents a framework on how to build effective and sustainable capacity systems to meaningfully tackle this long term problem Such a reframing of capacity building itself requires means of implementation The authors combine their decades long experiences in climate negotiations developing climate solutions climate activism and peer reviewed research to chart a realistic roadmap for the implementation of this alternative framework for capacity building As a result this book convincingly makes the case that universities as the highest and sustainable seats of learning and research in the developing countries should be the central hub of capacity building there This will be a valuable resource for students researchers and policy makers in the areas of climate change and environmental studies
