Question: I have a 1994 Ford Taurus with 100,000 miles. The car has been running fine for the last 10 years. Recently, the car has been running rough and the engine is making a knocking sound. What could be the problem?

Answer: The most likely cause of the knocking sound is a bad timing belt. The timing belt is responsible for the proper timing of the engine's valves and pistons. If the belt is worn or broken, the engine will run rough and make a knocking sound. It is important to replace the timing belt as soon as possible to avoid further damage to the engine.
