Unisa Application Forms For Admission 2016:

Epistemic Freedom in Africa Sabelo Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2018-06-27 Epistemic Freedom in Africa is about the struggle for African people to think, theorize, interpret the world and write from where they are located, unencumbered by Eurocentrism. The imperial denial of common humanity to some human beings meant that in turn their knowledges and experiences lost their value, their epistemic virtue. Now in the twenty-first century, descendants of enslaved, displaced, colonized and racialized peoples have entered academies across the world, proclaiming loudly that they are human beings, their lives matter and they were born into valid and legitimate knowledge systems that are capable of helping humanity to transcend the current epistemic and systemic crises. Together they are engaging in diverse struggles for cognitive justice, fighting against the epistemic line which haunts the twenty-first century. The renowned historian and decolonial theorist Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni offers a penetrating and well-argued case for centering Africa as a legitimate historical unit of analysis and epistemic site from which to interpret the world, whilst simultaneously making an equally strong argument for globalizing knowledge from Africa so as to attain ecologies of knowledges. This is a dual process of both deprovincializing Africa and in turn provincializing Europe. The book highlights how the mental universe of Africa was invaded and colonized, the long-standing struggles for an African university and the trajectories of contemporary decolonial movements such as Rhodes Must Fall and Fees Must Fall in South Africa. This landmark work underscores the fact that only once the problem of epistemic freedom has been addressed can Africa achieve political, cultural, economic and other freedoms. This groundbreaking new book is accessible to students and scholars across Education, History, Philosophy, Ethics, African Studies, Development Studies, Politics, International Relations, Sociology, Postcolonial Studies and the emerging field of Decolonial Studies. The Open Access versions Chapter 1 and Chapter 9 available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9780429492204> have been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license. Biological Activity of Natural Secondary Metabolite Products Toshio Morikawa, 2018-09-20 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Biological Activity of Natural Secondary Metabolite Products that was published in IJMS. The Globalization of Legal Education Bryant G. Garth, Gregory C. Shaffer, 2022 Legal academics and practitioners in recent decades increasingly emphasize the so-called globalization of legal education. The diffusion of the Juris Doctor (JD) degree to Australia, Hong Kong, Japan and South Korea, as well as the advent of a very similar Juris Master (JM) degree in China and a shift in the late 1980s and beyond to a new US-influenced format in India, exemplify shifts toward US legal education practices. Flood (2014) The global and Americanizing trend is evident on the web sites of law schools around the globe with many law schools competing to be the most global in terms of their faculty, curricula, teaching methods and students. Less pronounced but related to the literature on legal globalization is that on transnationalization and transnational processes, which is a strong component of the move toward globalization in legal education. As this book shows, if we look to see what is celebrated as part of globalized law schools and faculties we see increased cross border flows of professors and students teaching of transnational legal subjects development of particular forms of teaching practice such as legal clinics explicit focus on transnational rankings and transnationalized scholarly communities sharing teaching and research methods and approaches across domains of law

Modelling and Intelligent Optimisation of Production Scheduling in VCIM Systems Son Duy Dao,2017-12-27 This thesis reports on an innovative production scheduling model for virtual computer integrated manufacturing VCIM systems It also describes a robust genetic algorithm for production scheduling in VCIM systems The model which is the most comprehensive of its kind to date is not only capable of supporting collaborative shipment scheduling and handling multiple product orders simultaneously but also helps cope with multiple objective functions under uncertainties In turn the genetic algorithm characterised by an innovative algorithm structure chromosome encoding crossover and mutation is capable of searching for optimal suboptimal solutions to the complex optimisation problem in the VCIM production scheduling model described Lastly the effectiveness of the proposed approach is verified in a comprehensive case study

Bioethical Reflections on the Border between Life and Death Alessandro Ferrara,2025-11-04 The present volume provides a bioethical and legal philosophical inquiry into three of the most ethically controversial and politically sensitive domains of contemporary biolaw surrogacy end of life decisions and medical triage The book s approach transcends mere description or comparison delving into the ethical and philosophical dimensions required to adopt a normative framework for evaluating the management of human life at its biological thresholds birth and death Within the central chapters the text follows a consistent thread through a legal philosophical perspective it examines whether the choices of giving life through surrogacy ending life and allocating medical resources in contexts of scarcity can be considered ethically admissible while investigating whether normative structures exist that are capable of guiding human action and upholding autonomy equality justice and human dignity Written in clear and accessible language this book provides conceptual clarity and critical reflection for scholars and practitioners in bioethics biolaw philosophy of law and health policy

Intersections in Language Planning and Policy Jean Fornasiero, Sarah M. A. Reed, Rob

Amery, Eric Bouvet, Kayoko Enomoto, Hui Ling Xu, 2020-09-28 This volume encompasses the range of issues encountered by language scholars who teach and research in departments of languages and cultures within the higher education system predominantly in Australia but touching other universities worldwide Related studies on language planning methodology or pedagogy have focused on one or more of these same issues but rarely on their totality Intersections as a metaphor running discreetly through the essays in this volume connects them all to a lived reality The field of languages and cultures as it is practised and reflected upon in Australian universities is essentially an interdisciplinary and interconnecting space one in which linguistic and disciplinary diversities meet and join forces rather than collide or disperse along different pathways The international and local studies featured here focus on language planning new pedagogies and language reclamation and link to meeting points and commonalities They show that language scholars are increasingly finding themselves on common ground as they tackle issues of policy and practice affecting their field whether within their institutions within the tertiary system or within the framework of government policy Global Security, Safety and Sustainability: The Security Challenges of the Connected World Hamid Jahankhani, Alex Carlile, David Emm, Amin Hosseinian-Far, Guy Brown, Graham Sexton, Arshad Jamal, 2017-01-03 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Global Security Safety and Sustainability ICGS3 2017 held in London UK in January 2017 The 32 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 74 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on the future of digital forensics cyber intelligence and operation information systems security management systems security safety and sustainability cyber infrastructure protection ICEL 2017 - Proceedings of the 12th International Conference on e-Learning Laurie O. Campbell, Richard Hartshorn, 2017 Democracy and Governance for Resourcing the Commons Janet McIntyre-Mills, Norma R. A. Romm, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2019-06-11 This book promotes the well being of the commons through representation and accountability through monitoring from below in order to operationalize engagement This book views the commons as a legal concept a transformative governance concept and a basis for systemic ethics The chapters focus on practical responses to address complex problems that comprise many interrelated variables and are perceived differently by stakeholders with different values and life experiences By considering these different stakeholders the goal is to highlight ways to regenerate and invigorate employment opportunities The book identifies pathways towards ethical vocational education to enable lifelong engagement by active citizens which requires action learning to address areas of perceived policy concern Throughout the chapters in this book the authors discuss transformative research and its implications on stakeholders They focus on re presentation and its implications for thinking and practice One author makes the case for fostering non anthropocentric approaches to ethical development In addition the chapters cover case studies including governance challenges associated with water management using a mixed method approach and also production of mushrooms in collaboration with coffee growers in Jakarta The book focuses on ways to de colonialise knowledge formation in public policy and makes the case for an alternative approach to governance and democracy that takes into account a range of local people's perspectives
