

UNDERSTANDING THE PREDICTIVE MAINTENANCE LIFE CYCLE

Data Acquisition

Sensors attached to the equipment detect an abnormality from the baseline and send it to the CMMS System.

Diagnostics

Maintenance managers analyse the data to detect the exact fault with the equipment.

Health Management

A Work Order is created and the maintenance is scheduled to take place to fix the problem.

Prognostics

The asset's future state is predicted and an estimate of the remaining useful life of the equipment is carried out. This determines when a failure is expected to occur.

The Maintenance Of Life Norwood:

The Maintenance of Life Frances Norwood, 2018 Biomedicine and Beatitude Nicanor Pier Giorgio

Austriaco, 2021-06-25 This timely and up to date new edition of Biomedicine and Beatitude features an entirely new chapter on the ethics of bodily modification It is also updated throughout to reflect the pontificate of Pope Francis recent concerns including ethical issues raised by the COVID 19 pandemic and feedback from the many instructors who used the first edition in the classroom Euthanasia, Ethics and Public Policy John Keown, 2018-10-18 A unique documented case against the legalisation of assisted dying based mainly on empirical and logical slippery slope concerns Leaving Anthony Stavrianakis, 2020-04-28 The first book length anthropological study of voluntary assisted dying in Switzerland Leaving is a narrative account of five people who ended their lives with assistance Stavrianakis places his observations of the judgment to end life in this way within a larger inquiry about how to approach and understand the practice of assisted suicide which he characterizes as operating in a political legal and medical paragon adjacent to medical care and expertise Frequently observers too rapidly integrate assisted suicide into moral positions that reflect sociological and psychological commonplaces about individual choice and its social determinants Leaving engages with core early twentieth century psychoanalytic and sociological texts arguing for a contemporary approach to the phenomenon of voluntary death seeking to learn from such conceptual repertoires as well as to acknowledge their limits Leaving concludes on the anthropological question of how to account for the ethics of assistance with suicide to grasp the actuality and composition of the ethical work that goes on in the configuration of a subject one who is making a judgment about dying with other participants and observers the anthropologist included Time to Die Rodney Syme, 2017-02-27 Medical science now allows us to live longer than ever before So living with pain and dying well have become major concerns for the general community health practitioners church groups and politicians Should these issues be decided in private by individuals or must we legislate ethical guidelines Rodney Syme has been an advocate for medically assisted dying for more than twenty years In Time to Die he reflects on those living and dying in pain and shares their stories Syme makes a powerful case for extending the right to die to those whose suffering is unbearable Debating Euthanasia Emily Jackson, John Keown, 2011-12-02 In this new addition to the Debating Law series Emily Jackson and John Keown re examine the legal and ethical aspects of the euthanasia debate Emily Jackson argues that we owe it to everyone in society to do all that we can to ensure that they experience a good death For a small minority of patients who experience intolerable and unrelievable suffering this may mean helping them to have an assisted death In a liberal society where people's moral views differ we should not force individuals to experience deaths they find intolerable This is not an argument in favour of dying On the contrary Jackson argues that legalisation could extend and enhance the lives of people whose present fear of the dying process causes them overwhelming distress John Keown argues that voluntary euthanasia and physician assisted suicide are gravely unethical and he defends their continued prohibition by law He analyses the main arguments for relaxation of the law including those which invoke the experience of jurisdictions which permit these practices and finds them wanting Relaxing the law would he concludes be both wrong in principle and dangerous in practice not least for the dying the disabled and the disadvantaged Life or Death Daniel J. Baum,2015-08-22 A understandable overview of the laws regarding euthanasia end of life treatment and medication of those who may be unable to decide for themselves if the treatment is necessary Our bodies are ours to control free from state interference or so it appears The Charter of Rights and Freedoms provides Everyone has the right to life liberty and security of the person and the right not to be deprived thereof except in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice But how absolute is this Do parents have the final decision in determining the medical care of their children even if that choice may mean death May children override the choices of their parents as to medical care What role if any does the state or the courts have in reviewing individual medical choices even if those choices are made by an adult but could result in death Can physicians insist that their patients must have certain medical treatments Do the terminally ill have the right to ask for assistance in dying These are among the questions upon which Canadian judges must rule When and how they reach decisions are explored in Life or Death A Matter of Choice The search for meaning in later life Nienke P. M. Fortuin,2020 The search for meaning in later life An empirical exploration of religion and death draws on thorough qualitative and quantitative research among older Dutch adults The scarcity of vital narratives of ageing and the fragmentation of religious grand narratives appear to complicate their search for meaning Moreover increased longevity and the medicalisation of death challenge many older adults to decide about the right timing of death This study qualitatively and quantitatively explores narratives of ageing and of religion expressed by older Dutch adults and their attitudes toward death euthanasia and life prolongation Social Death Jana Králová,Tony Walter,2018-04-19 Social death occurs when the social existence of a person or group ceases With an individual it can occur before or after physical death Scholars in a wide range of disciplines have applied the concept to very diverse issues including genocide slavery dementia hospitalisation and bereavement Social death relates to social exclusion social capital social networks social roles and social identity but its theorising is not united scholars in one field are often unaware of its use in other fields This is the first book to bring a range of perspectives together in a pioneering effort to bring to the field conceptual clarity rooted in empirical data Preceded by an original theoretical discussion of the concept of social death contributions from the UK Romania Sweden and Israel analyse the fourth age end of life policies dying alone at home suicide photographs on gravestones bereavement and the agency of dead musicians This book was originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Social Science Death in the Modern World Tony Walter,2020-01-09 Death comes to all humans but how death is managed symbolised and experienced varies widely not only between individuals but also between groups What then shapes how a society manages death dying and bereavement today Are all modern countries similar How important are culture the physical environment national histories national laws and institutions and globalization This is the first book to look at how all these different factors shape death and dying in the modern world Written by an internationally renowned scholar in death studies and drawing on examples from around the world including the UK USA China and Japan The Netherlands Scandinavia and Eastern Europe This book investigates how key factors such as money communication technologies economic in security risk the family religion and war interact in complex ways to shape people s experiences of dying and grief Essential reading for students researchers and professionals across sociology anthropology social work and healthcare and for anyone who wants to understand how countries around the world manage death and dying

Bioethics, Medicine and the Criminal Law: Volume 1, The Criminal Law and Bioethical Conflict: Walking the Tightrope Amel Alghrani, Rebecca Bennett, Suzanne Ost, 2012-11-01 Who should define what constitutes ethical and lawful medical practice Judges Doctors Scientists Or someone else entirely This volume analyses how effectively criminal law operates as a forum for resolving ethical conflict in the delivery of health care It addresses key questions such as how does criminal law regulate controversial bioethical areas What effect positive or negative does the use of criminal law have when regulating bioethical conflict And can the law accommodate moral controversy By exploring criminal law in theory and in practice and examining the broad field of bioethics as opposed to the narrower terrain of medical ethics it offers balanced arguments that will help readers form reasoned views on the ethical legitimacy of the invocation and use of criminal law to regulate medical and scientific practice and bioethical issues

Euthanasia and Assisted Suicide David Albert Jones, Chris Gastmans, Calum MacKellar, 2017-09-21 Examining the evidence from Belgium one of only five countries where euthanasia is practised legally an international panel of experts considers the implications of legalised euthanasia and assisted suicide Looking at the issue from an international perspective the authors have written an invaluable in depth analysis of the ethical aspects of this complex area The discussion forms a solid foundation for informed debate about assisted dying With contributors from a broad range of disciplines this book is ideal for students academics legislators and anyone interested in legal medical social and philosophical ethics A vital and timely examination of a growing phenomenon and one of the most challenging ethical questions of our time

Death and Dying Lauri S. Scherer, 2014-04-14 This collection of essays explores issues related to death and dying Each essay takes a pro or con stance on each topic so that readers benefit from more than one thoughtful viewpoint Readers will explore end of life care and the economics and end of life care decisions They will evaluate government involvement and the rights of terminally ill people Hospice care and the relationship between technology and life spans are also debated

Bioethics, Medicine and the Criminal Law Amel Alghrani, Rebecca Bennett, Suzanne Ost, 2013 This volume analyses how effectively criminal law operates as a forum for resolving ethical conflict in the delivery of health care

Transitions and Transformations Caitrin Lynch, Jason Danely, 2013-04-01 Rapid population aging once associated with only a select group of modern industrialized nations has now become a topic of increasing global concern This volume reframes aging on a global scale by illustrating the multiple ways it is embedded within individual social and cultural life courses. It presents a broad range of ethnographic work introducing a variety of conceptual and methodological approaches to studying life course transitions in conjunction with broader sociocultural transformations. Through detailed accounts in such diverse settings as nursing homes in Sri Lanka, a factory in Massachusetts, cemeteries in Japan, and clinics in Mexico, the authors explore not simply our understandings of growing older but the interweaving of individual maturity and intergenerational relationships, social and economic institutions, and intimate experiences of gender identity and the body.

Women and Positive Aging Lisa Hollis-Sawyer, Amanda Dykema-Engblade, 2016-03-03
 Women and Positive Aging: An International Perspective presents the noted research in the fields of psychology, gerontology, and gender studies, reflecting the increasingly popular and pervasive positive aging issues of women in today's society from different cohorts, backgrounds, and life situations. Each section describes a bridge between the theoretical aspects and practical applications of the theory that is consistent with the scientist-practitioner training model in psychology, including case studies and associated intervention strategies with older women. In each chapter, in addition to incorporating current research on aging women's issues, each section provides the reader with background about the topic to give context and perspective. Examines a comprehensive range of issues for aging women. Details current research trends. Encompasses a holistic model of women's aging. Ranges from physical and mental health in response to aging changes to social relationships and sexuality. Presents a how-to-put-research-into-practice section in each chapter. Focuses on topical issues that are relevant to women wanting to optimize their life outcomes as they live on average longer than ever before.

What Kind of Death Govert den Hartogh, 2022-10-31
 Many books have been published about physician-assisted death. This book offers a comprehensive and in-depth examination of that subject, but it also extends the discussion to a broader range of end-of-life decisions, including suicide, palliative care, and sedation until death. In every jurisdiction that has laws permitting some kind of physician-assisted death, a central point of controversy is whether such assistance should only be available to dying patients or to everyone who wants to end his life. The right to determine the manner and time of one's own death, however, does not necessarily mean that physicians should be permitted to cooperate in ensuring a quick and peaceful death. In this book, Govert den Hartogh considers the fundamental and practical matters, including concrete issues of legal regulation, related to end-of-life decision making. He proposes a two-tiered system: Everyone should have access to humane means of ending his life if his decision to end it is voluntary, well-considered, and durable. But doctors should only participate in a joint action of ending the patient's life.

on his request if they also are convinced of acting in the patient's best interests in particular by ending intolerable and unrelievable suffering. And perhaps there is reason to restrict that second service to dying patients. The whole argument however depends on the extent to which in both tiers of the system we can design legal safeguards that will enable us to trust judgments about the requesting person's request and about his suffering. The book considers much new evidence in regard to this issue. What Kind of Death will appeal to researchers and advanced students working in bioethics applied ethics philosophy of law and health law

A Companion to the Anthropology of Death Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 2018-05-11

A thought provoking examination of death, dying and the afterlife. Prominent scholars present their most recent work about mortuary rituals, grief and mourning, genocide, cyclical processes of life and death, biomedical developments and the materiality of human corpses. In this unique and illuminating book, interrogating our most common practices surrounding death, the authors ask such questions as: How does the state wrest away control over the dead from bereaved relatives? Why do many mourners refuse to cut their emotional ties to the dead and nurture lasting bonds? Is death a final condition or can human remains acquire agency? The book is a refreshing reassessment of these issues and practices, a source of theoretical inspiration in the study of death. With contributions written by an international team of experts in their fields, A Companion to the Anthropology of Death is presented in six parts and covers such subjects as: Governing the Dead in Guatemala, After Death Communications, ADCs in North America, Cryonic Suspension in the Secular Age, Blood and Organ Donation in China, The Fragility of Biomedicine and more. A Companion to the Anthropology of Death is a comprehensive and accessible volume and an ideal resource for senior undergraduate and graduate students in courses such as Anthropology of Death, Medical Anthropology, Anthropology of Violence, Anthropology of the Body and Political Anthropology. Written by leading international scholars in their fields, A Companion to the Anthropology of Death is a comprehensive survey of the most recent empirical research in the anthropology of death, a fundamental critique of the early 20th century founding fathers of the anthropology of death, cross-cultural texts from tribal and industrial societies. The collection is of interest to anyone concerned with the consequences of the state and massive violence on life and death.
