Civil War Recipes Lily May Spaulding, John Spaulding, 2014-04-23 Godey's Lady's Book perhaps the most popular magazine for women in nineteenth century America had a national circulation of 150 000 during the 1860s The recipes spelled receipts it published were often submitted by women from both the North and the South and they reveal the wide variety of regional cooking that characterized American culture There is a remarkable diversity in the recipes thanks to the largely rural readership of Godey's Lady's Book and to the immigrant influence on the country in the 1860s Fish and game were readily available in rural America and the number of seafood recipes testifies to the abundance of the coastal waters and rivers The country cook was a frugal cook particularly during wartime so there are a great many recipes for leftovers and seasonal produce In addition to a wide sampling of recipes that can be used today Civil War Recipes includes information on Union and Confederate army rations cooking on both homefronts and substitutions used during the war by southern cooks

Food on Foot Demet Güzey,2017-04-01 What did great adventurers eat during their expeditions to the far corners of the world How did they view the role of food in their survival and wellbeing What about hikers and backpackers today who set out to enjoy nature pushing their own boundaries of comfort for adventure How does food impact their experience And what do they have in common with pilgrims and soldiers Food is a significant element of our relationship with nature Whether a historical expedition or a weekend camping trip a journey made on foot requires sustenance Without mastering our relationship with food we would have not been to the South Pole or summited Mt Everest or expanded to the west of America However in the reporting of these expeditions so far food has rarely taken a central role It is possible to take a different stance and look at our time on trails with food as the leading character Here Demet Güzey offers a fun and interesting read on the social and cultural history developments and challenges in food on trails and in the wild She explores personal accounts news articles and anecdotes to highlight how food has accompanied us in mountaineering desert travel and pilgrimage in the army or on the street From tinned foods to foraging in the wild worm infested hardtack to palate dulling army rations loss of appetite in high altitude to starvation at the trenches no stone is left unturned in this tour of how we manage food on foot and how disasters happen when we do not manage it so well Readers will delight in both the stories of many of the famous explorations and the more current journeys

Meigs County Ohio and Her Soldiers in the Civil War Lois Helmers, 2009 My love of Meigs County began as a young child I visited many summers with relatives traversing hollers and river trails Little did I realize the influence this time would have on my life When I learned that several of my ancestors had been in the Civil War I began researching their military history and that of many others from Meigs County I found research difficult because little had been written in books What was written was not in any concise order perhaps only a paragraph or two per book I hope the information you find here to be a much better representation of the county and men who served during the Civil War and will help amateur genealogists like myself to know more about their ancestors where they fought if they died where and the burial location There are in depth details about several battles including Kennesaw Mountain Georgia and Corinth and Iuka Mississippi There are descriptions of over 9 000
