Digital Capitalism and its Limits Vishwas Satgar, 2025-04-01 The Fourth Industrial Revolution 4IR has been described as the next big leap in digital capitalism Digital technologies such as artificial intelligence quantum computing 3D printing and robotisation we are led to believe will bring more progress growth and development while also helping us to resolve the deep and multiple crises the world is in Billions are being invested in these technologies accompanied by sharp geopolitical rivalries to secure an edge in the control over them Volume 8 in the Democratic Marxism series invites readers to think more deeply and critically about digital capitalism and its limits While most governments in the world including South Africa have accepted a techno nationalist narrative and have deliberated on the risks for the planet and humanity the volume interrogates the effects and consequences of advances in artificial intelligence and heightened technological innovation and industrialisation on employment democracy and the climate Viewing the grand social engineering of 4IR through a Marxist lens the volume contributors engage critically with the class project of digital monopoly capitalism and its powerful totalitarian tendencies They question the dangerous technotopian imaginary shaping this digital techno shift the implications of algorithmic data extractivism the securitisation of already weak market democracies the social consequences of digital learning lack of regulation and the power dynamics in the labour process Anchored in techno realism the interdisciplinary perspective captured in this volume puts forward alternatives for democratisation and a just transition to protect human and non human life

The Shopsteward, 2003 Sport and Apartheid South Africa Michelle M. Sikes, Toby C. Rider, Matthew P. Llewellyn, 2021-11-29 As athletes of today grapple with how to use their public platforms to fight for activist causes Sport and Apartheid South Africa Histories of Politics Power and Protest examines a set of longer histories of sport race and activism The book seeks to uncover and understand new historical aspects of apartheid and sport challenge myths and rethink dominant narratives It examines the subject of racially segregated sport in South Africa from national and transnational perspectives asking questions about how athletes and administrators transnational anti apartheid groups and activists and politicians around the world interpreted and internalized racial segregation in South Africa By connecting the local to the global this book illuminates the ways in which apartheid sport animated national and international debates ranging from racism and human rights to Cold War politics and post colonialism Sport and Apartheid South Africa is a significant new contribution to the study of race and politics in sport and will be a great resource for academics researchers and advanced students of History Politics International Relations Sociology and Political Geography The chapters in this book were originally published in The International Journal of the History of Sport Indigenous Archives in Postcolonial

Contexts Mpho Ngoepe, Sindiso Bhebhe, 2023-12-06 Indigenous Archives in Postcolonial Contexts revisits the definition of a record and extends it to include memory murals rock art paintings and other objects Drawing on five years of research and examples from Zimbabwe Botswana and South Africa the authors analyse archives in the African context Considering issues such as authentication ownership and copyright the book considers how murals and their like can be used as extended or counter archives Arguing that extended archives can reach people in a way that traditional archives cannot and that such archives can be used to bridge the gaps identified within archival repositories the authors also examine how such archives are managed and authenticated using traditional archival principles Presenting case studies from organisations such as Gay and Lesbian Memory in Action Archives GALA and heritage projects such as the Makgabeng Open Cultural Museum the authors also analyse Indigenous family praises and songs and explore how such records are preserved and transmitted to the next generation Indigenous Archives in Postcolonial Contexts demonstrates how the voices of the marginalised can be incorporated into archives Making an important contribution to the effort to decolonise African archives the book will be essential reading for academics and students working in archival studies library and information science Indigenous studies African studies cultural heritage history and anthropology

Africans and Britons in the Age of Empires, 1660-1980 Myles Osborne, Susan Kingsley Kent, 2015-03-24 Africans and Britons in the Age of Empires 1660 1980 tells the stories of the intertwined lives of African and British peoples over more than three centuries In seven chapters and an epilogue Myles Osborne and Susan Kingsley Kent explore the characters that comprised the British presence in Africa the slave traders and slaves missionaries and explorers imperialists and miners farmers settlers lawyers chiefs prophets intellectuals politicians and soldiers of all colors The authors show that the oft told narrative of a monolithic imperial power ruling inexorably over passive African victims no longer stands scrutiny rather at every turn Africans and Britons interacted with one another in a complex set of relationships that involved as much cooperation and negotiation as resistance and force whether during the era of the slave trade the world wars or the period of decolonization The British presence provoked a wide range of responses reactions and transformations in various aspects of African life but at the same time the experience of empire in Africa and its ultimate collapse also compelled the British to view themselves and their empire in new ways Written by an Africanist and a historian of imperial Britain and illustrated with maps and photographs Africans and Britons in the Age of Empires 1660 1980 provides a uniquely rich perspective for understanding both African and British history

From Memory to Marble Elizabeth Rankin, Rolf Michael Schneider, 2020-02-10 For the first time the 92 metre frieze of the Voortrekker Monument in Pretoria one of the largest historical narratives in marble has been made the subject of a book The pictorial narrative of the Boer pioneers who conquered South Africa's interior during the Great Trek 1835-52 represents a crucial period of South Africa's past Conceptualising the frieze both reflected on and contributed to the country's socio-political debates in the 1930s and 1940s when it was made The book considers the active role the Monument played in the rise of Afrikaner nationalism and the development of apartheid as well as its place in post apartheid heritage The frieze is unique in that it provides rare evidence of the complex processes followed in creating a major monument Based on unpublished documents drawings and models these processes are unfolded step by step from the earliest discussions of the purpose and content of the frieze through all the stages of its design to its shipping to post war Italy to be copied into marble from Monte Altissimo up to its final installation in the Monument The book examines how visual representation transforms historical memory in what it chooses to recount and the forms in which it is depicted The second volume expands on the first by investigating each of the twenty seven scenes of the frieze in depth providing new insights into not only the frieze but also South Africa s history Fran ois van Schalkwyk of African Minds co publisher with De Gruyter writes From Memory to Marble is an open access monograph in the true sense of the word Both volumes of the digital version of the book are available in full and free of charge from the date of publication This approach to publishing democratises access to the latest scholarly publications across the globe At the same time a book such as From Memory to Marble with its unique and exquisite photographs of the frieze as well as its wealth of reproduced archival materials demands reception of a more traditional kind that is on the printed page For this reason the book is likewise available in print as two separate volumes The printed and digital books should not be seen as separate incarnations each brings its own advantages working together to extend the reach and utility of From Memory to Marble to a range of interested readers

Social Media and Digital Dissidence in Zimbabwe Trust Matsilele, 2022-08-29 This book proposes a new theorisation when studying cyber dissidents in an African digital sphere It argues that social media dissidents are a recent development in a long lineage of dissidents in African societies Using Zimbabwe as a case study the study locates contemporary dissidents in the same family with other historical dissident figures found in African orature the Chimurenga wars through music poetry and other forms of expression The book argues against techno deterministic approaches to studying social media born digital dissidence in Africa It is aimed at scholars dedicated to studying social media movements in African contexts and the global south generally prompting them to re evaluate their earlier conclusions and adopt a more nuanced and context specific approach

Writing the Ancestral River Jacklyn Cock, 2018-03-01 Writing the Ancestral River is an illuminating and unusual biography of the Kowie River in the Eastern Cape This tidal river runs through the centre of what used to be called the Zuurveld a formative meeting ground of different peoples who have shaped our history Khoikhoi herders Xhosa pastoralists Dutch trekboers and British settlers Their direct descendants continue to live in the area and interact in ways that have been decisively shaped by their shared history Besides being a social history this is also a natural history of the river and its catchment area where dinosaurs once roamed and cycads still grow As the book shows the natural world of the Kowie has felt the effects of human settlement most strikingly through the establishment of a harbour at the mouth of the river in the 19th century and the development of a marina in the late 20th century Both projects have had a decisive and deleterious impact on the Kowie People are increasingly reconnecting with nature and justice through rivers Acknowledging the past and the inter generational racialised privileges damages and denials it established and perpetuates is necessary for any shared future By focusing on this little river the book raises larger questions about colonialism capitalism development and ecology and asks us to consider the connections between social and environmental injustice

Social Memory as a Force for Social and Economic Transformation Muxe Nkondo, 2023-02-01 This volume of essays is a reflection on social memory as a force for social and economic transformation Written by scholars and organic intellectuals it focuses on the uses of social memory in particular the conflict between the legacies of colonialism and the movement for fundamental change The content addresses both experts and ordinary citizens alike with a view to advancing discourse on where we are right now and how we move on from here to achieve meaningful transformation As scholars and public representatives with a deep understanding of the social economic and political dynamics of modern history of South Africa the contributors offer their unique perspectives and reflections on history politics economics culture education ethics and the arts as well as the links that bind these aspects into an ecology of ideas and attitudes
