Ecodomy - Life in its fullness Dirk J. Human, Zorodzai (Zoro) Dube, Gerda de Villiers, P.G.J. (Piet) Meiring, Jerry Pillay, Wayne G. Smith, Christo Thesnaar, John Robert van Niekerk, Ernest van Eck, Tanya van Wyk, Pieter M. Venter, Johan M. van der Merwe, 2017-11-28 This book provides a coherent and conceptual portrayal of aspects of the theological research theme entitled Ecodomy literally meaning to build a house In its figurative meaning the term Ecodomy addresses the theme life in its fullness This fullness of life entails a polarity which is inherently part of life namely its brokenness and its wholeness From various theological disciplines namely Old Testament Studies New Testament Studies Systematic Theology Church History and Practical Theology both the brokenness and wholeness are addressed theologically Every chapter focuses on a specific theological discipline while the combination of theological disciplines addresses the brokenness and wholeness of life as coherent

concept One pole does not exclude the other Brokenness is visible in current or recent very relevant societal challenges such as racism and xenophobia apartheid foreignness and exclusivism leadership crises and violence In contrast wholeness is embedded in themes such as the African concept of ubuntu a life of faith and wisdom reconciling leadership or transforming space and community Ultimately a Greek term persistence is connected to the meaning of Ecodomy and life in its fullness Several methodologies have been used in the different contributions of the book Every theological discipline applies a different methodology for the purpose of exposing a specific topic or research theme In general the contributions in this book follow a combination of a literature study with the further application of diachronic and synchronic exegetical methods In addition single contributions follow an own hermeneutical approach Not one single contribution but a combination of different theological disciplines which form the concepts of brokenness and wholeness life in its fullness which expose the polarity of life are included in this book In its exposed interdisciplinary interwovenness the book provides a tapestry of how different theological disciplines are combined into a single theme and how they contribute together by means of theological analyses and attempted building blocks to build the broken houses of societal structures or human life The book contributes to selected aspects of broken life in society and the healing experiences of human life Several themes touch on recent and relevant challenges which have contributed to the brokenness of life Not only in South Africa but globally these are currently relevant themes They include realities of racism and xenophobia apartheid foreignness and exclusivism leadership crises and violence With the focus on wholeness specific attention is given to the African concept of ubuntu a life of faith and wisdom reconciling leadership and transforming space and society A Greek term insolence as in keeping on asking Lk 11 8 illuminates the theme of Ecodomy from the perspective of a parable The target audience of the book is academic scholars and theologians who specialise in the different fields of Theology the Humanities and other Social Sciences Furthermore the book is also accessible to scholars of other academic disciplines outside these disciplines The book contains original research and contributions have not been plagiarised from publications elsewhere

Universities as Living

Labs for Sustainable Development Walter Leal Filho, Amanda Lange Salvia, Rudi W. Pretorius, Luciana Londero Brandli, Evangelos Manolas, Fatima Alves, Ulisses Azeiteiro, Judy Rogers, Chris Shiel, Arminda Do Paco, 2019-04-30 This book fills an important gap in the literature and presents contributions from scientists and researchers working in the field of sustainable development who have engaged in dynamic approaches to implementing sustainability in higher education It is widely known that universities are key players in terms of the implementation and further development of sustainability with some having the potential of acting as living labs in this rapidly growing field Yet there are virtually no publications that explore the living labs concept as it relates to sustainability and in an integrated manner The aims of this book which is an outcome of the 4th World Symposium on Sustainable Development at Universities WSSD U 2018 held in Malaysia in 2018 are as follows i to document the experiences of universities from all around the world in curriculum innovation research activities and practical projects as they relate to sustainable development at the university level ii to disseminate information ideas and experiences acquired in the execution of projects including successful initiatives and good practice iii to introduce and discuss methodological approaches and projects that seek to integrate the topic of sustainable development in the curricula of universities and iv to promote the scalability of existing and future models from universities as living labs for sustainable development The papers are innovative cross cutting and many reflect practice based experiences some of which may be replicable elsewhere Also this book prepared by the Inter University Sustainable Development Research Programme IUSDRP and the World Sustainable Development Research and Transfer Centre WSD RTC reinforces the role played by universities as living labs for sustainable development

The Stolen Bible Gerald O. West, 2016-08-09 The Stolen Bible tells the story of how Southern Africans have interacted with the Bible from its arrival in Dutch imperial ships in the mid 1600s through to contemporary post apartheid South Africa The Stolen Bible emphasises African agency and distinguishes between African receptions of the Bible and African receptions of missionary colonial Christianity Through a series of detailed historical geographical and hermeneutical case studies the book analyses Southern African receptions of the Bible including the earliest African encounters with the Bible the translation of the Bible into an African language the appropriation of the Bible by African Independent Churches the use of the Bible in the Black liberation struggle and the ways in which the Bible is embodied in the lives of ordinary Africans

Architecture, State Modernism and Cultural Nationalism in the Apartheid Capital Hilton Judin, 2021-04-07 This book is the first comprehensive investigation of the architecture of the apartheid state in the period of rapid economic growth and political repression from 1957 to 1966 when buildings took on an ideological role that was never remote from the increasingly dominant administrative legislative and policing mechanisms of the regime It considers how this process reflected the usurpation of a regional modernism and looks to contribute to wider discourses on international postwar modernism in architecture Buildings in Pretoria that came to embody ambitions of the apartheid state for industrialisation and progress serve as case studies These were widely acclaimed projects that embodied for apartheid officials the pursuit of modernisation but carried latent apprehensions of Afrikaners about their growing economic prospects and cultural estrangement in Africa It is a less known and marginal story due to the dearth of material and documents buried in archives and untranslated documents Many of the documents drawings and photographs in the book are unpublished and include classified material and photographs from the National Nuclear Research Centre negatives of 1960s from Pretoria News and documents and pamphlets from Afrikaner Broederbond archives State architecture became the most iconic public manifestation of an evolving expression of white cultural identity as a new generation of architects in Pretoria took up the challenge of finding form to their prospects and beliefs It was an opportunistic faith in Afrikaners who urgently needed to entrench their vulnerable and contested position on the African continent The shift from provincial town to apartheid capital was swift and relentless Little was left to stand in the way of the ambitions and aim of the state as people were uprooted and forcibly relocated structures torn down and block upon block of administration towers and slabs erected across Pretoria This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of architectural history as well as those with an interest in postcolonial studies political science and social anthropology
