Journalism James Glen Stovall, 2005. Journalism: Who, What, When, Where, Why, and How is a comprehensive introduction to the field, covering how news is produced and delivered, how news organizations work, and how audiences react to and interact with the news media. For students preparing for a career in journalism, the text describes the range of job possibilities in the field and offers practical, basic instruction in the fundamental practices of journalism: reporting, writing, editing, and presentation. Journalism helps students understand this exciting and important field and become more critical consumers of mass media. It also provides an overview of the rich history of journalism in America. Features up-to-date examples and discussions of current issues and controversies, allowing students to understand the principles of journalism in the context of issues that are familiar to them. Focuses on the importance and challenge of maintaining accuracy and honesty in the media, encouraging students to think about ethics and values. Includes both practical and conceptual approaches to the study of journalism, giving students a full picture of the field. Covers history in four lively chapters that tie journalism to larger societal trends, helping students engage in the material rather than be put off by it. Contains a chapter on writing based on the author's widely used text, Writing for the Mass Media, giving students practical instruction in writing and opportunities to practice what they are learning.

About the Author: James Glen Stovall taught journalism and mass communication for 25 years at the University of Alabama before joining the faculty of Emory and Henry College in Emory, Virginia, in 2003.
