Police Reform Tim Prenzler, Janet Ransley, 2002. Police Reform: Building Integrity is about the recurring problem of police corruption and contemporary efforts to find effective strategies to maximise ethical conduct. It draws on international experience using Australia as a major source. In the last fifteen years, Australian policing has been of significant interest because of the combination of advanced democratic processes, exposure of serious police corruption and extensive, sometimes radical, experimentation with prevention strategies. The book begins with an overview of developments and issues in police integrity control globally before giving close attention to special problem areas and to innovations in establishing and maintaining best practice. These innovations include modern methods of testing police applicants, assessing organisational integrity, mediating complaints, using stings to reveal secretive corruption, creating integrity profiles of officers and units and developing effective independent oversight and investigation of complaints. The book is for all stakeholders in police conduct: police managers, professional standards branch personnel, general duties officers, recruits, civilian oversight agencies, civil libertarians, politicians, police studies scholars and students and the general public. The book brings together the latest research on types of misconduct in a form that is readily accessible to a wide range of readers with short, clearly focused chapters on specialist topics. It balances diagnostic and theoretical explanations of police behaviour with a series of expositions of specific practical strategies for creating ethical departments.

Vicarious Kinks Ummni Khan, 2014-01-01. In Vicarious Kinks Ummni Khan looks at the mass of claims that film feminism, the human sciences and law make about sadomasochism and its practitioners and the way those claims become the basis for the legal regulation of sadomasochist pornography and practice.

Victimology Lorraine Wolhuter, Neil Olley, David Denham, 2008-07-11. How should the needs of victims of crime be met by the criminal justice system? Have the rights of victims been neglected in order to ensure that a defendant is brought to justice? Who are the victims of crime and why are they targeted? This new book examines the theoretical arguments concerning victimization before examining who victims actually are and the measures taken by the criminal justice system to enhance their position. Particular attention is paid to the victimization of women, LGBT persons, minority ethnic persons and the elderly. The book engages in a detailed exposition of the law's response to such victimization, focusing on the measures adopted in international human rights law by the Council of Europe and in English law and policy. It also assesses alternative models of victim participation in criminal proceedings in European jurisdictions such as Germany, Sweden and the Netherlands. Adopting an interdisciplinary approach which encompasses law, criminology and social policy, the book is ideal for undergraduates taking an option in victimology, race and crime or gender and crime whatever their disciplinary background.
