The Psychology of Tort Law Jennifer K Robbennolt, Valerie P Hans, 2016-01-01 Tort law regulates most human activities from driving a car to using consumer products to providing or receiving medical care Injuries caused by dog bites slips and falls fender benders bridge collapses adverse reactions to a medication bar fights oil spills and more all implicate the law of torts The rules and procedures by which tort cases are resolved engage deeply held intuitions about justice causation intentionality and the obligations that we owe to one another Tort rules and procedures also generate significant controversy most visibly in political debates over tort reform The Psychology of Tort Law explores tort law through the lens of psychological science Drawing on a wealth of psychological research and their own experiences teaching and researching tort law Jennifer K Robbennolt and Valerie P Hans examine the psychological assumptions that underlie doctrinal rules They explore how tort law influences the behavior and decision making of potential plaintiffs and defendants examining how doctors and patients drivers manufacturers and purchasers of products property owners and others make decisions against the backdrop of tort law They show how the judges and jurors who decide tort claims are influenced by psychological phenomena in deciding cases And they reveal how plaintiffs defendants and their attorneys resolve tort disputes in the shadow of tort law Robbennolt and Hans here shed fascinating light on the tort system and on the psychological dynamics which undergird its functioning

Psychology: Themes and Variations, Briefer Version, 8th Ed. [Instructor's Edition]. Wayne Weiten, 2011 The Otherworld in Myth, Folklore, Cinema, and Brain Science Jim Kline, 2019-04-09 This volume explores a dimension of reality usually scoffed at by rational thinking individuals living in modern industrialized societies but still experienced by these same individuals when they are in a stage of sleep known as rapid eye movement REM sleep this is the stage in which vivid and bizarre dreams are a person's living reality While in this stage we believe what we experience is real but then deny its reality upon awakening as we go about our daily routines Yet in many cases a dream with vivid imagery and bizarre goings on is communicating with the dreamer in an archaic language directly associated with an Otherworld reality This reality exists within us and expresses concepts and ideas about our realm of existence that pertain to our waking lives as well as to an alternate archaic life with its own language and ideas transcending physical reality By studying various myths and folk tales along with cinematic portrayals of otherworldly experiences commentary from modern individuals and reports from traditional shamans who are experts at traversing the Otherworld reality this text discerns the features and characteristics of this supernatural realm Contemporary research into the Otherworld marks this realm as corresponding to the unconscious substratum of the human psyche what C G Jung referred to as the collective unconscious Certain scientists have found evidence of its connection with various aspects of brain functioning suggesting that the brain in many ways encourages a belief in the Otherworld However it would be a mistake to call the Otherworld a figment of the human imagination since this realm seems to have a type of physical existence The book considers the Otherworld to exist and provides reasons why rational thinking individuals are hesitant to accept its existence even when their brains are telling them the Otherworld is real and you have just experienced it

Handbook for Teaching Introductory Psychology Michelle Rae Hebl, Charles L. Brewer, Ludy T. Benjamin, Jr., 2001-08-01 Like its predecessors Volume III of the Handbook for Teaching

Introductory Psychology provides introductory psychology instructors with teaching ideas and activities that can immediately be put into practice in the classroom. It contains an organized collection of articles from Teaching of Psychology (TOP), the official journal of the Society for the Teaching of Psychology, Division 2 of the American Psychological Association. Volume III contains 89 articles from TOP that have not been included in other volumes. Another distinction between this volume and its predecessors is its emphasis on testing and assessment. The book is divided into two sections. Section One, Issues and Approaches in Teaching Introductory Psychology, contains 52 articles on critical issues such as how to approach the course, understanding students' interests, perceptions, and motives; students' existing knowledge of psychology, including their misconceptions; a comparison of introductory textbooks and tips on how to evaluate them; test questions and student factors affecting exam performance; an overview of different forms of feedback; giving extra credit; and how to deal with academic dishonesty. Section Two consists of 37 articles that present demonstrations, class and laboratory projects, and other techniques to enhance teaching and learning in both the introductory as well as advanced courses in the discipline. This section is organized so as to parallel the order of topics found in most introductory psychology textbooks. Intended for academicians who teach the introductory psychology course and/or oversee grad assistants who teach the course, all royalties of the book go directly to the Society for the Teaching of Psychology to promote its activities to further improve the teaching of psychology.

Finding Your Own Goliath Byron Wardlaw, 2019-11-19. The Bible mentions giants most notably the giant Goliath. Giants put fear in the hearts and minds of most of the Hebrew populace. Goliath kept Saul's army frozen in fear; they were unable to fulfill their purpose as soldiers. Goliath never did anything, and yet he was an effective deterrent. The story of David versus Goliath was a battle of flesh and blood. There is a deeper meaning to Goliath and the giants in the promised land, and it has to do with fears, insecurities, and anxieties that lie deep within each one of us. In fact, those fears are so deep within us that David describes them as secret faults that are in the hidden part. These fears exist and greatly affect each person, but they are so well guarded that one is not even aware of their existence. These are the giants that keep one from having the faith to go down into the valley and fight the battles of life. Even the apostle Paul acknowledged the profound influence of these giants and could only proclaim, "Oh wretched man that I am!" The truth that will set one free is when one comes to the realization that they need Christ to help foster an awareness of the existence of those inner fears. David noted that God desires that one will find truth in the inward parts. The battles in life are not carnal; for we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against the giants in the depths of one's own spirit. Human nature urges people to concentrate on external phenomena when the real giants that impede prosperity, potentiality, peace, faith, and love are internal phenomena. Each one only needs to find their own personal Goliaths that lie within.

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2009. Statistics for the Behavioral Sciences James Jaccard, Michael A. Becker, 2002. Now your students can become intelligent consumers of scientific research without being overwhelmed by the statistics. Jaccard and Becker's text teaches students the basic skills for analyzing data and helps them become intelligent consumers of scientific information Praised for its real life applications the text tells students when to use a particular statistic why they should use it and how the statistic should be computed and interpreted Because many students given a set of data cannot determine where to begin in answering relevant research questions the authors explicate the issues involved in selecting a statistical test Each statistical technique is introduced by giving instances where the test is most typically applied followed by an interesting research example each example is taken from psychology literature
