A-R	Bank Statement Refer to page 124 to 125 in the textbook. Additional Information Step 1: Check stubs are on pages 3 and 4 (packet of printed forms, blue and white forms). Compare the check number on the checks stubs to the check numbers on the bank statement (last page of source documents: Form R). The check numbers that are NOT on the bank statement are outstanding checks. Remember the checks that you have already wrote in the check book (checks # 902 and 903). There is a total of five outstanding checks. Record the outstanding checks on the bank reconciliation form (page 17 of the printed forms, right side bottom). Step 2 Do the same as above for the deposits that are written on the check stubs. Record the outstanding deposit slips on the bank reconciliation form (right side, top). Step 3 Refer to textbook page 125 to prepare the bank statement. Remember to record the bank charges from the bank statement on the left side of the bank reconciliation form. There are two bank charges: Service charge (abbreviated SC) Credit Card Fee (abbreviated CC) Step 4 Record the bank service charges on check stub #904, refer to

Impacts of the Russia-Ukraine War price shocks on the Bangladesh economy: A general equilibrium analysis Chowdhury, Tahreen Tahrima, Dorosh, Paul A., Islam, Rizwana, Pradesha, Angga, 2023-05-04 The spike in global commodity prices caused by the Russia Ukraine war has had major adverse impacts on many developing countries including Bangladesh that still depend heavily on energy and food imports Although the Bangladesh economy has rebounded after the COVID 19 pandemic the latest global trade shock has threatened to increase food insecurity and poverty This study utilizes the Bangladesh RIAPA economywide model to assess the impact of increases in global commodity prices and explores potential policy interventions to reduce negative impacts Simulation results show that increases in international commodity prices create a GDP loss of 0.36 percent and an increase of three million in the number of poor mainly rural poor Energy price shocks account for most of this decline in real GDP 0.28 percent. The fertilizer subsidy helps spur agriculture production which leads to an increase in crop GDP by 0.78 percent and total agricultural GDP by 0.43 percent. Changes in policy could help mitigate the effects of these price shocks. In particular, petroleum subsidies would help increase production in both agriculture and services leading to a 0.3 percent increase in household consumption considerably more than the gain under a targeted cash transfer policy of equal cost. However, given that the petroleum subsidy does not specifically target the poor, it only reduces poverty by a fraction of what a targeted cash transfer would. Moreover, as illustrated by the experiences of other countries, increases in a fuel subsidy once introduced are likely to be very difficult to reverse. This suggests that if the major policy goal is to reduce poverty, a direct cash transfer would be more effective than the other policy options considered here. Combining these policies, however, would be even more effective than any single intervention, reducing poverty incidence by around 2.5 million people and thereby preventing nearly all of the potential increase in poverty resulting from global price shocks. China's Agricultural Trade: Competitive Conditions and Effects on U.S. Exports ,

The State of the World's Forests 2022 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2022-05-01. Against the backdrop of the Glasgow Leaders Declaration on Forests and Land Use and the pledge of 140 countries to eliminate forest loss by 2030 and to support restoration and sustainable forestry, the 2022 edition of The State of the World's Forests SOFO explores the potential of three forest pathways for achieving green recovery and tackling multidimensional planetary crises including climate change and biodiversity loss. The three interrelated pathways are halting deforestation and maintaining forests, restoring degraded lands and expanding agroforestry and sustainably using forests, and building green value chains. The balanced simultaneous pursuit of these pathways can generate sustainable economic and social benefits for countries and their rural communities, help sustainably meet increasing global demand for materials, and address environmental challenges. The State of the World's Forests 2022 presents evidence on the feasibility and value of these pathways and outlines initial steps that could be taken to further pursue them. There is no time to lose; action is needed now to keep the global temperature increase below 1.5°C, reduce the risk of future pandemics, ensure food security and nutrition for all, eliminate poverty, conserve the planet's biodiversity, and offer young people hope of a better world and a better future for all. ERS Staff Report , 1990
