International Conference on Intellectual Capital Knowledge Management & Organisational Learning Vincent Ribi re and Lugkana Worasinchai,2015-10-20 Decolonisation in Universities Jonathan Jansen,2019-08-01 In this collection of case studies and stories from the field South African scholars come together to trade stories on how to decolonise the university Shortly after the giant bronze statue of Cecil John Rhodes came down at the University of Cape Town student protestors called for the decolonisation of universities It was a word hardly heard in South Africa s struggle lexicon and many asked What exactly is decolonisation This edited volume brings together the best minds in curriculum theory to address this important question In the process several critical questions are raised Is decolonisation simply a slogan for addressing other pressing concerns on campuses and in society What is the colonial legacy with respect to curriculum and can it be undone How is the project of curriculum decolonisation similar to or different from the quest for postcolonial knowledge indigenous knowledge or a critical theory of knowledge What does decolonisation mean in a digital age where relationships between knowledge and power are shifting The book combines strong conceptual analyses with novel case studies of attempts to do decolonisation in settings as diverse as South Africa Uganda Tanzania and Mauritius

Such a comparative perspective enables reasonable judgements to be made about the prospects for institutional take up within the curriculum of century old universities

Women in Management Worldwide Ronald J. Burke, Astrid M. Richardsen, 2016-08-12 Organizations today are facing unprecedented challenges including an ageing workforce potential talent shortages an increasingly competitive international environment and the need to utilize the talents of the best qualified people regardless of gender More women than men in many cases are graduating from universities and gaining the requisite experience to qualify for advancement to higher levels of management In this expanded and revised third edition Professors Burke and Richardsen together with a list of international contributors address women s progression in the workforce and into the upper echelons of management They cover a range of professions and a geographically dispersed territory thereby advancing the understanding of women in management within a traditional context and making a substantial contribution to the literature for both an academic and practitioner audience The broader regional perspective offers a comprehensive overview of the challenges and opportunities facing women in the workplace and promotes the ongoing analysis of the interface between women s career aspirations and societal and organizational norms assumptions and values Following the same format as the previous edition the country by country analysis allows for the data between countries and regions to be compared for the differences to be addressed and a more holistic picture of the situation in a given country to be assessed Women in Management Worldwide will appeal to researchers policy makers in a range of countries interested in workforce issues talent management and gender equality as well as consultants working with international organizations on HRM and organizational effectiveness challenges

Faith in Christ Today Invitation to Systematic Theology Klaus Nurnberger, 2016-06-29 In Volume I the author analyses the Word of God and the response of the Christian community in a lucid and accesible way In this second volume he interprets the classical assertions of the Christian faith in terms of Gods creative and redemptive project in the world of today His experiential approach is meant to restore the credibility vibrancy and relevance of faith in Christ for our times

Utilisation of South African Research on Higher Education Jan Botha , Gabriele Vilyte, 2021-10-26 The relationship between research on the one hand and policy practice on the other hand is complicated and collaboration between scholars in research on higher education RHE and institutional research IR practitioners is often lacking This book marks a collaborative effort of a diverse range of South African RHE and IR scholars and asks the overarching questions What do we know about the utilisation of South African research on higher education SARHE and its subset of research known as Institutional Research How and by whom is this research used The book begins by looking at the historical underpinnings of SARHE and delineating the shape and size of this body of research This is followed by a series of case studies on South African Higher Education institutions and governmental bodies investigating how when and by whom are research on higher education and institutional research used in the decision making of these organisations This book is the first of its kind in South Africa and sets out to lay the groundwork for further research into the use uptake and utilisation of RHE and IR in this country

Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015

(Volume 4) Union Of International Associations, Union of International Associations, 2014-09-17 The Yearbook of International Organizations provides the most extensive coverage of non profit international organizations currently available Detailed profiles of international non governmental and intergovernmental organizations IGO collected and documented by the Union of International Associations can be found here In addition to the history aims and activities of international organizations with their events publications and contact details the volumes of the Yearbook include networks between associations biographies of key people involved and extensive statistical data Providing both an international organizations and research bibliography Volume 4 cites over 46 000 publications and information resources supplied by international organizations and provides nearly 18 000 research citations under 40 subject headings This volume also includes a research bibliography on international organizations and transnational associations Reimagining Contract Law Pedagogy Warren Swain, David Campbell, 2019-01-14 Reimagining Contract Law Pedagogy examines why existing contract teaching pedagogy has remained in place for so long and argues for an overhaul of the way it is taught With contributions from a range of jurisdictions and types of university it provides a survey of contract law courses across the common law world reviewing current practice and expressing concern that the emphasis the current approach places on some features of contract doctrine fails to reflect reality The book engages with the major criticism of the standard contract course which is that it is too narrow and rarely engages with ordinary life or at least ordinary contracts and argues that students are left without vital knowledge This collection is designed to be a platform for sharing innovative teaching experiences with the aim of building a new approach that addresses such issues This book will have international appeal and will be of interest to academics researchers and postgraduates in the fields of law and education It will also appeal to teachers of contract law as well as governmental and legal profession policymakers Teacher Preparation in South Africa Linda Chisholm, 2019-10-09 The book will focus on the emergence of a racially divided system of teacher preparation and its dismantling post apartheid It will explore the policies and politics of discrepant pathways to teacher preparation within the context of international and comparative trends New Kid on the Block Alison Mackinnon, 2016-07-18 The reconstruction of higher education in Australia at the end of the 1980s radically reshaped many existing universities However in South Australia Dawkins s educational changes brought into existence an entirely new university the University of South Australia formed by the merging of two former institutions from the advanced education sector the South Australian Institute of Technology and the South Australian College of Advanced Education This volume first traces the unsuccessful path taken by those institutions to form partnerships with the two existing universities in South Australia Having been rejected by Flinders and the University of Adelaide respectively the two former colleges joined forces and began life as a new university in a new system of higher education Lacking research funding and access to higher degree students in its previous life the new university nevertheless had considerable strengths which suited the new system particularly in equity and links with business and the community. The story of the University of South Australia is one of the most successful of the Dawkins changes. After a shaky start its rapid rise to prominence in South Australia and beyond allows it to be truly seen as a new kid on the block in Australian higher education.

Activating Academia for an Era of Colliding Crises Alison Julia Katherine Green, Adam R. Aron, James Dyke, 2025-10-28

While there has been discussion for decades about the need to rethink the core purpose of academia to enable all to live well on a planet of finite resources, humanity's present predicaments point to a paradox at the heart of the academic enterprise. Although academic institutions have originated research and innovations that underpin much of what we view as development and progress, these same advances are also responsible for the global crises we now face. Indeed, many voices are now arguing that academia can and must do more to drive the transformative change that is needed if we are to avert the imminent catastrophe that is almost upon us.

The Alliance for Sustainability leadership in Education (EAUC) in conjunction with Second Nature and the United Nations Environment's Youth and Education Alliance announced in 2019 that over 7 000 higher and further education institutions across six continents were declaring a climate emergency with a three-point plan for action as part of the Race to Zero. This enshrined a bolder commitment from academia to play its part in achieving net zero greenhouse gas emissions.

While there has been success over several decades in fostering Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and in embedding sustainability in curricula, the efficacy of this has arguably been limited by the disciplinary silos in which academics find themselves. Similarly, the research and scholarly work that is needed to fully understand planetary limits transcends the traditional silos of academic disciplines.

This Research Topic then will examine what needs to change to optimise ESD and transdisciplinary approaches to research and teaching. It will explore ways in which theories of change can be brought to bear on these issues.

Our Research Topic also centres on the responsibility acknowledged increasingly by academics for academic institutions and sectors and for academics themselves to do more. As trusted educators, communicators and policy influencers, academia has unique potential and responsibility to guide students and society through this transition to a better future.

In the case of many academics, this means embracing advocacy and activism as their moral responsibility at this point in humanity's history. To this end, the Research Topic will consider ways in which climate justice principles may be used to explore the responsibilities of academic institutions as one example of an actor with the capacity to influence the drivers of climate breakdown to act.

In some nations, academic institutions have fallen prey to a set of neoliberal assumptions that have arguably diminished the agency of individual academics. The marketisation of higher education is rife in some nations, e.g. UK and US, and while some academics have documented rising inequality, a deepening climate and ecological crisis, socio-economic breakdown and the deteriorating psychological and physical well-being, these engender they have so far proven mostly powerless to reorient their fields to confront these challenges at the institutional level. Consequently, they remain unable to pursue an agenda for change that benefits their students and wider society This Research Topic welcomes research that explores actions available to academics from diverse perspectives including models of behavioural change Decades of research have shown that warnings do not work and that evidence based recommendations do not necessarily translate into policy or institutional change Academics increasingly refer to a broken science society contract suggesting that calls to listen to the science and expectations that warnings issued by scientists will be heeded reflect a depoliticized view of the relationships between science and society This failure to recognise the intricate ways in which science and policy are connected raises questions about the neutrality of research and the academic enterprise Our Research Topic invites articles that explore how we might re make the science society contract Questions about the independence and interdependence of research and teaching inevitably arise when academic institutions are in receipt of funds from corporations charities foundations and individuals Institutions can be compromised by vested interests often in the form of corporate interests that can influence research curriculum and staff appointments and the will of senior management to address this problem is poor While there are laudable initiatives aimed at resolving intersecting challenges and promoting transdisciplinary approaches in higher education it is fair to say that increasing numbers of academics globally realise that we are not set up to ready society for an era of colliding environmental and social crises Many fear that academia is guilty of perpetuating the problems that have created this crisis And while growing numbers hold this view few have ready answers as to what more academics and academic institutions can do In spite of this some academics have chosen to step outside of their conventional roles embracing advocacy and activism either taking individual action outside of their role or seeking to drive change within their institutions One problem is that action is fragmented often reliant upon the energies and tenacity of one or more individuals who have sought to re define their roles to embrace the responsibility they feel to act The Research Topic will serve to aggregate work on academic activism and to raise awareness of ways in which academics can act It will also examine the notion that we need to remake the science society contract and will explore what that entails The Research Topic will explore the interrelations between science and society and highlight the need to examine political dimensions of decision making and knowledge production To begin to provide answers to the questions of what it is that academics can do to drive transformational change this Research Topic brings together voices from diverse disciplines and nations Their voices have in common one thing each has reflected on or re imagined their role and purpose as an academic and each has embraced advocacy or activism The articles will be organised around three broad themes i In what ways are our academic institutions either failing or succeeding We invite articles that expose the overt and covert influences on academia such as neoliberal structures and fossil fueled research agendas We also invite articles centred on examples of good practice such as initiatives to foster transdisciplinary approaches to research and education ii Trailblazers for transformative change We invite case studies and critiques from the front lines from academics exploring and putting into practice their own take on What can I do Evaluations of what has and has not worked to drive change at the institutional and individual levels are welcomed iii The disruptors that are already initiating transformations in HE The growth of for profit private providers open access teaching resources and other online approaches that threaten the business models of existing public and nonprofit institutions who struggle to compete with the relevance and just in time education that is becoming available via novel actors We welcome articles exploring the potential for disruption

A Handbook on Legal Languages and the Quest for Linguistic Equality in South Africa and Beyond Zakeera Docrat, Russell H Kaschula, Monwabisi K Ralarala, 2021-06-02 A Handbook on Legal Languages and the Quest for Linguistic Equality in South Africa and Beyond is an interdisciplinary publication located in the discipline of forensic linguistics language and law This handbook includes varying comparative African and global case studies on the use of language s in courtroom discourse and higher education institutions Kenya Morocco Nigeria Australia Belgium Canada and India These African and global case studies form the backdrop for the critique of the monolingual English language of record policy for South African courts the core of this handbook discussed in relation to case law and the beleaguered legal interpretation profession This handbook argues that linguistic transformation and decolonisation of South Africa s legal and higher education systems needs to be undertaken where legal practitioners are linguistically equipped to litigate in a bilingual multilingual courtroom that enables access to justice for the majority of African language speaking litigants enforcing their constitutional language rights

The Top Books of the Year Unisa List Of Courses 2015 The year 2023 has witnessed a noteworthy surge in literary brilliance, with numerous compelling novels enthralling the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the engaging narratives that have charmed audiences this year. Unisa List Of Courses 2015 : Colleen Hoover "It Ends with Us" This poignant tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover masterfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can triumph. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This spellbinding historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Discover the Magic : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This evocative coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens weaves a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of compelling stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and thrilling novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
