Fig. 1. Diagram of the experimental setup. The subject is seated in a chair and views the screen through a mirror. The screen displays the target (a red dot) and the starting position (a green dot). The subject's hand is positioned at the starting position. The distance between the starting position and the target is 10 cm. The subject is instructed to move the hand to the target as quickly and accurately as possible. The time taken for the hand to reach the target is recorded. The experiment is repeated for different target distances (5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50 cm). The results are plotted on a graph of time vs. distance. The graph shows that the time taken for the hand to reach the target increases linearly with distance. The slope of the line is 0.002 s/cm. The intercept on the y-axis is 0.05 s. The equation of the line is $y = 0.002x + 0.05$.

State Department of Education,1945 Social Studies for Secondary Schools Alan J. Singer,2008-10-26 This popular text advocates an inquiry and activity based view of social studies teaching that respects the points of view of students and teachers Based in practice and experience it offers systematic support and open honest advice for new teachers is conversational not pedantic and provides lots of examples While the structure and most of the topics remain largely the same as before this Third Edition presents new lesson ideas in every chapter especially designed to help new teachers to address learning standards to work in inclusive settings and to promote literacy and the use of technology in social studies classrooms puts a heavier focus on what is important to know and why includes new essays on the politics of social studies education responds to opponents of project or activity based social studies instruction and multicultural education with a sharpened defense of both of these approaches throughout the book Intended as a text for undergraduate and graduate pre service social studies methods courses this text is also useful for in service training programs as a reference for new social studies teachers and as a resource for experienced social studies educators who are engaged in rethinking their teaching practice The Costs of Student Assessments in Latin America Laurence Wolff,2007 Capital and Imperialism Utsa Patnaik,Prabhat Patnaik,2021-03-02 A comprehensive survey of capitalism s colonialist roots and uncertain future Those who control the world s commanding economic heights buttressed by the theories of mainstream economists presume that capitalism is a self contained and self generating system Nothing could be further from the truth In this pathbreaking book winner of the Paul A Baran Paul M Sweezy Memorial Award radical political economists Utsa Patnaik and Prabhat Patnaik argue that the accumulation of capital has always required the taking of land raw materials and bodies from noncapitalist modes of production They begin with a thorough debunking of mainstream economics Then looking at the history of capitalism from the beginnings of colonialism half a millennium ago to today s neoliberal regimes they discover that over the long haul capitalism in order to exist must metastasize itself in the practice of imperialism and the immiseration of countless people A few hundred years ago write the Patnaiks colonialism began to ensure vast virtually free markets for new products in burgeoning cities in the West But even after slavery was generally abolished millions of people in the Global South still fell prey to the continuing lethal exigencies of the marketplace Even after the Second World War when decolonization led to the end of the so called Golden Age of Capitalism neoliberal economies stepped in to reclaim the Global South imposing drastic austerity measures on working people But say the Patnaiks this neoliberal economy which lives from bubble to bubble is doomed to a protracted crisis In its demise we are beginning to see finally the transcendence of the capitalist system
