The Care Of Life Transdisciplinary Perspectives In Bioethics And Biopolitics:

The Care of Life Miguel de Beistegui, Giuseppe Bianco, Marjorie Gracieuse, 2015 This interdisciplinary collection of essays demonstrates how the ethical and political problems we are confronted with today have come to focus largely on life. The contributors to this volume define and assess the specific meaning of life itself. It is only by doing so that we can understand why life has become an all encompassing problem why all questions especially ethical and political have become vital questions. We have reached a moment in history where every distinction and opposition is no longer in relation to life but within it and where life is at once a theoretical and practical problem. This book throws light on this nexus of problems at the heart of contemporary debates in bioethics and biopolitics. It helps us understand why and how life is understood, valued, cared for and framed today. Taking a genuinely transdisciplinary approach, these essays demonstrate how life is a multifaceted problem and how diverse the origins, foundations and also consequences of bioethics and biopolitics therefore are.

Biopolitical Governance Hannah Richter, 2018-05-17 For years critical theorists and Foucauldian biopolitical theorists have argued against the Aristotelian idea that life and politics inhabit two separate domains. In the context of receding social security systems and increasing economic inequality within contemporary liberal democracies, life is necessarily political. This collection brings together contributions from both established scholars and researchers working at the forefront of biopolitical theory, gendered and sexualised governance and the politics of race and migration to better understand the central lines along which the body of the governed is produced, controlled or excluded.

Vitalism and Its Legacy in Twentieth Century Life Sciences and Philosophy Christopher Donohue, Charles T. Wolfe, 2023-01-02 This Open Access book combines philosophical and historical analysis of various forms of alternatives to mechanism and mechanistic explanation, focusing on the 19th century to the present. It addresses vitalism, organicism and responses to materialism and its relevance to current biological science. In doing so, it promotes dialogue and discussion about the historical and philosophical importance of vitalism and other non mechanistic conceptions of life. It points towards the integration of genomic science into the broader history of biology. It details a broad engagement with a variety of nineteenth, twentieth and twenty first century vitalisms and conceptions of life. In addition, it discusses important threads in the history of concepts in the United States and Europe, including charting new reception histories in eastern and south eastern Europe. While vitalism, organicism and similar epistemologies are often the concern of specialists in the history and philosophy of biology and of historians of ideas, the range of the contributions as well as the geographical and temporal scope of the volume allows for it to appeal to the historian of science and the historian of biology generally.

The Ahuman Manifesto Patricia MacCormack, 2020-01-23 We are in the midst of a growing ecological crisis. Developing technologies and cultural interventions are throwing the status of human into question. It is against this context that Patricia McCormack delivers her expert justification for the ahuman. An alternative to posthuman thought, the term paves the way for thinking that doesn't dissolve into nihilism and despair but actively embraces issues like human extinction vegan abolition atheist occultism death studies a refusal of identity politics deep ecology and the apocalypse as an optimistic beginning In order to suggest vitalistic perhaps even optimistic ways to negotiate some of the difficulties in thinking and acting in the world this book explores five key contemporary themes Identity Spirituality Art Death The apocalypse Collapsing activism artistic practice and affirmative ethics while introducing some radical contemporary ideas and addressing specifically modern phenomena like death cults intersectional identity politics and capitalist enslavement of human and nonhuman organisms to the point of zombiedom The Ahuman Manifesto navigates the ways in which we must compose the human differently specifically beyond nihilism and post and trans humanism and outside human privilege This is so that we can actively think and live viscerally with connectivity actual not virtual and with passion and grace toward a new world

On the Politics of the Living Federico Testa, 2025-04-17 Bringing the philosophies of Michel Foucault and Georges Canguilhem into dialogue Federico Testa examines the notions of life and norms underlying our modern experience of politics Today's global health crisis acts as a stark reminder that life is at the core of our political debates and dilemmas We can no longer think of forms of political organization citizenship and participation without considering the materiality and precarity of our own organic life Ours is a politics of the living Within this context this book examines Foucault's work on the politicization of life and biopolitics through the lens of Canguilhem's notion of norms Testa extracts from Canguilhem's philosophy the conceptual tools to re-interpret Foucault's ideas on power and reconceptualises normativity as a process of the creation of norms that provide tools for political and social analysis and for thinking resistance In so doing he uncovers new and important possibilities for biopolitical resistance Demonstrating not only Canguilhem's underexplored social and political concerns but also the intellectual osmosis between the two thinkers On the Politics of the Living is an urgent examination of the ever increasing significance of the concepts of life care and health in today's political discourse

The Urban Brain Nikolas Rose, Des Fitzgerald, 2022-03-22 Bridging the social and life sciences to unlock the mystery of how cities shape mental health and illness Most of the world's people now live in cities and millions have moved from the countryside to the rapidly growing megacities of the global south How does the urban experience shape the mental lives of those living in and moving to cities today Sociologists study cities as centers of personal progress and social innovation but also exclusion racism and inequality Psychiatrists try to explain the high rates of mental disorders among urban dwellers especially migrants But the split between the social and life sciences has hindered understanding of how urban experience is written into the bodies and brains of urbanites In The Urban Brain Nikolas Rose and Des Fitzgerald seek to revive the collaboration between sociology and psychiatry about these critical questions Reexamining the relationship between the city and the brain Rose and Fitzgerald explore the ways cities shape the mental health and illness of those who inhabit them Drawing on the social and life sciences The Urban Brain takes an ecosocial approach to the vital city in which humans live and thrive but too often get sick and suffer The result demonstrates what we can gain by a vitalist approach to the mental lives of those migrating to and living in cities focusing on the ways that humans make remake and inhabit their urban lifeworlds

Deadly Biocultures Nadine Ehlers, Shiloh Krupar, 2019-12-17 A trenchant analysis of the dark side of regulatory life making today In their seemingly relentless pursuit of life do contemporary U.S. biocultures where biomedicine extends beyond the formal institutions of the clinic hospital and lab to everyday cultural practices also engage in a deadly endeavor Challenging us to question their implications Deadly Biocultures shows that efforts to make live are accompanied by the twin operation of let die they validate and enhance lives seen as economically viable self-sustaining productive and oriented toward the future and optimism while reinforcing inequitable distributions of life based on race class gender and disability Affirming life can obscure death create deadly conditions and even kill Deadly Biocultures examines the affirmation to hope target thrive secure and green in the respective biocultures of cancer race-based health fatness aging and the afterlife Its chapters focus on specific practices technologies or techniques that ostensibly affirm life and suggest life's inextricable links to capital but that also engender a politics of death and erasure The authors ultimately ask what alternative social forms and individual practices might be mapped onto or intersect with biomedicine for more equitable biofutures

Kantian Perspectives in Bioethics D. Dall'Agnol,2015 The Morals of Life Davide Tarizzo,2024 A critique of Darwinian philosophy and scientism and an updating of the theory of biopolitics beyond Foucault in accordance with today's post COVID times Bioethics and Biopolitics in Israel Hagai Boas,Yael Hashiloni-Dolev,Nadav Davidovitch,Dani Filc,Shai J. Lavi,2019-06-06 Although the Israeli case of bioethics has been well documented this book offers a novel understanding of Israeli bioethics that is a milestone in the comparative literature of bioethics Bringing together a range of experts the book's interdisciplinary structure employs a contemporary sociopolitical oriented approach to bioethics issues with an emphasis on empirical analysis that will appeal not only to scholars of bioethics but also to students of law medicine humanities and social sciences around the world Its focus on the development of bioethics in Israel makes it especially relevant to scholars of Israeli society both in and out of Israel as well as medical practitioners and health policymakers in Israel Bioethics in Cultural Contexts Christoph Rehmann-Sutter,Marcus Düwell,Dietmar Mieth,2006-03-08 CHRISTOPH REHMANN SUTTER MARCUS D WELL DIETMAR MIETH When we placed finitude limits of human existence as a motto over a round of discussion on biomedicine and bioethics which led to this collection of essays we did not know how far this would lead us into methodological quandaries. However we felt intuitively that an interdisciplinary approach including social and cultural sciences would have an advantage over a solely disciplinary philosophical or theological analysis. Bioethics if it is to have adequate discriminatory power should include sensitivity to the cultural contexts of biomedicine and also to the cultural contexts of bioethics itself. Context awareness of course is not foreign to philosophical or theological bioethics for the simple reason that the issues tackled in the debates as in other fields of ethics could not be adequately understood outside their contexts. Moral issues are always accompanied by contexts. When we try to unpack them which is necessary to make them accessible to ethical discussion we are regularly confronted with the fact that in removing too much of the context we do not clarify an issue but make it less comprehensible. The context at least some essential parts of it is intrinsic to the issue. Unpacking in ethics is therefore a different procedure. It does not mean peeling the context off but rather identifying which contextual elements are essential for an understanding of the key moral aspects of the issue and explaining how they establish its particular character.

Futures of Reproduction Catherine Mills, 2011-06-03      The Biopolitics of Lifestyle Christopher Mayes, 2016. This work focuses on the biopolitical use of lifestyle to govern individual choice and secure population health from the threat of obesity.

Progress in Bioethics Jonathan D. Moreno, Sam Berger, 2010. Leading scholars debate politically progressive perspectives on bioethics and the implications for society, politics and science in the twenty first century.

Cross-Cultural Perspectives on the (Im)Possibility of Global Bioethics J. Tao Lai Po-wah, 2013-11-21. The contributions to this volume grew out of papers presented at an international conference 'Individual Community Society Bioethics in the Third Millennium' held in Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China between 25-28 May 1999. The conference was organized by the Centre for Comparative Public Management and Social Policy and Ethics in Contemporary China Research Group in the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences at the City University of Hong Kong. The conference brought together scholars from east and west to investigate the challenges to caring and to traditional moral authorities that would confront bioethics in the third millennium. They explored the implications of moral loss and moral diversity in post traditional and post modern societies and how these would shape the character of medical care and bioethics discourse in the new era. A proceedings volume under the same title of 'Individual Community Society Bioethics in the Third Millennium' was published in May 1999 for the conference meeting.

Biopolitics After Neuroscience Jeffrey Paul Bishop, M. Therese Lysaught, Andrew A. Michel, 2022. This provocative analysis by three leading bioethicists criticizes contemporary neuroscientific claims about individual morality and notions of good and evil. It connects moral philosophy to neoclassical economics and successfully challenges the idea that we can locate morality in the brain. Instead of discovering the source of morality in the brain as they claim, the popularizers of contemporary pop neuroscience are shown to participate in an understanding of human behavior that serves the vested interests of contemporary political economy. Providing evidence that the history of claims about morality and brain function reach back 400 years, the authors locate its genesis in the beginnings of modern philosophy science and economics They further map this trajectory through the economic and moral theories of John Stuart Mill Jeremy Bentham David Hume and the Chicago School of Economics to uncover a pervasive colonial anthropology at play in the work of leading neuroscientists today At the Foundations of Bioethics and Biopolitics: Critical Essays on the Thought of H. Tristram Engelhardt, Jr. Lisa M. Rasmussen, Ana Iltis, Mark J. Cherry, 2015-10-30 This volume brings together a set of critical essays on the thought of Professor Doctor H Tristram Engelhardt Junior Co Founding Editor of the Philosophy and Medicine book series Amongst the founders of bioethics Professor Engelhardt Jr looms large Many of his books and articles have appeared in multiple languages including Italian Romanian Portuguese Spanish and Chinese The essays in this book focus critically on a wide swath of his work in the process elucidating critiquing and or commending the rigor and reach of his thought This volume compasses analyses of many different aspects of Engelhardt s work including social and political philosophy biopolitics the philosophy of medicine and bioethics It brings together internationally known scholars to assess key elements of Engelhardt s work
