O'Brien, 2005-01-12 Purchase one of 1st World Library's Classic Books and help support our free internet library of downloadable eBooks Visit us online at www.1stWorldLibrary.ORG When Edward J. O'Brien asked me to cooperate with him in choosing each year's best English short stories to be published as a companion volume to his annual selection of the best American short stories I had not realized that at the end of my arduous task which has involved the reading of many hundreds of stories in the English magazines of an entire year I should find myself asking the simple question What is a short story I do not suppose that a hundred years ago such a question could have occurred to any one Then all that a story was and could be was implied in the simple phrase Tell me a story We all know what that means How many stories published today would stand this simple if final test of being told by word of mouth I doubt whether fifty per cent would Surely the universality of the printing press and the linotype machine have done something to alter the character of literature just as the train and the telephone have done not a little to abolish polite correspondence Most stories of today are to be read not told Hence great importance must be attached to the manner of writing in some instances the whole effect of a modern tale is dependent on the manner of presentation Henry James is possibly an extreme example      Best British Short Stories and the Yearbook of the British, Irish, and Colonial Short Story Edward Joseph O'Brien, John Cournos, 1926      The Best British Short Stories 2013 Nicholas Royle, 2013 The Best British Short Stories invites you to judge a book by its cover or more accurately by its title This series aims to reprint the best short stories published in the previous calendar year by British writers whether based in the UK or elsewhere      The Best American Short Stories ... and the Yearbook of the American Short Story, 1924      Best Short Stories Martha Foley, Edward Joseph O'Brien, 1927 Includes the Yearbook of the American short story 1978 1980      The Best British Short Stories of 1922 Edward J. total must agree with the balance of the Accounts Receivable account shown in the Trial Balance A similar Schedule of Accounts Payable made up of all the balances in the Purchase Ledger is prepared and it must agree with the balance of the Accounts Payable account of the General Ledger The Balance Sheet In the more elementary part of the text the student learned how to prepare a Statement of Assets and Liabilities for the purpose of disclosing the net capital of an enterprise In the present chapter he was shown how to prepare a similar statement the Balance Sheet For all practical
