Stuffed Animals From Concept To Construction

Stephen T. Asma

Stuffed Animals From Concept To Construction:

Stuffed Animals Abigail Patner Glassenberg, 2013 This technique filled workshop for creating soft toys with 16 projects and 52 lessons covers everything from the basics to advanced construction elements

Stuffed Animals Abigail Patner Glassenberg, 2013

Stuffed Animals & Pickled Heads Stephen T. Asma, 2001 In countless exhibits for instance the idea of the traditional human and nuclear family is evident in displays of everything from extinct animals to grizzly bears in nature alas the male bear is more likely to devour its young than to nurture them Where else but at a natural history museum could you find a T rex a high tech planetarium a Native American totem pole and flesh eating beetles all under one roof And in Stuffed Animals and Pickled Heads Stephen Asma reveals that what we don't see the scientific research that is going on backstage is just as fascinating as the exhibits on display Jacket

Stuffed Animals and Pickled Heads Stephen T. Asma, 2003-05-01 The natural history museum is a place where the line between high and low culture effectively vanishes where our awe of nature our taste for the bizarre and our thirst for knowledge all blend happily together But as Stephen Asma shows in Stuffed Animals and Pickled Heads there is more going on in these great institutions than just smart fun Asma takes us on a wide ranging tour of natural history museums in New York and Chicago London and Paris interviewing curators scientists and exhibit designers and providing a wealth of fascinating observations We learn how the first museums were little more than high toned side shows with such garish exhibits as the pickled head of Peter the Great's lover In contrast today's museums are hot beds of serious science funding major research in such fields as anthropology and archaeology Rich in detail lucid explanation telling anecdotes and fascinating characters Asma has rendered a fascinating and credible account of how natural history museums are conceived and presented It's the kind of book that will not only engage a wide and diverse readership but it should best of all send them flocking to see how we look at nature and ourselves in those fabulous legacies of the curiosity cabinet The Boston Herald

Chinese Ergative-like Construction Tanzhou Liu, 2025-12-01

Studies on ergativity have provided valuable insights into understanding Chinese but as research deepens scholars have discovered areas where ergative theory is difficult to apply to Chinese This book focuses on Chinese ergative like sentences exploring their distinctions from typical ergative structures and evaluating whether they truly fit the ergative classification The authors focus on the following questions

- 1 Why and how has the Wangmian sentence a simple six character sentence in Chinese roughly equivalent to Wangmian's father died in English sparked long lasting intense discussions in Chinese linguistics since the 1950s
- 2 Is there a derivational relationship between the Wangmian sentence and other similar sentence structures
- 3 How is the concept of ergativity applied to Chinese language esp in the generation of the Wangmian sentence and what is its effect
- 4 Are they considered a Chinese ergative verb like open in English and unergative verbs like laugh and cry truly distinct categories
- 5 What valuable insights can we gain from examining the Wangmian sentence from a cognitive perspective
- 6 How can we better understand the complexities between the diachronic evolution and synchronic analysis of the Wangmian sentence Finally the author compare the explanatory power of constructions and movements two representative methods of synthetic and analytic approaches discussing which better reveals the essence of Chinese grammar
