

THESIS STATEMENTS

What is a thesis statement?

A good essay will argue a point of view. The argument of the paper is summed up in one sentence, called the thesis statement. The thesis statement should work as a one line summary of what the paper will be arguing, and is usually presented in two parts: the topic, and then the point of view that you will be arguing concerning that topic. This is presented in the introduction, and is usually the last sentence of the paragraph.

Often, students forget to include the second part of the thesis statement, which is the point of view, or, the argument, and they just present the topic. Think of the thesis statement as an algebraic equation:

NO      Missing the Topic ("a")
Solving problems is difficult.

NO      Missing the Argument ("b")
There are many environmental problems.

YES      (TOPIC)      (ARGUMENT)
Solving Montreal's environmental problems      is more difficult      than many environmentalists believe.

M2 Models and Methodologies for Community Engagement Reena Tiwari,Marina Lommerse,Dianne Smith,2014-03-10

How can we engage communities What is empowerment To what extent should the project process be participatory How is an outsider insider relationship handled How do researchers negotiate with the hegemony of western cultural interpretations How are organizational and contextual influences handled in a project What leadership demands do such projects place on researchers What is capacity building What are creative leaders and creative communities How does the researcher journey from their studio to the situation M2 Models and Methodologies for Community Engagement discusses key theoretical constructs community engagement capacity building and community empowerment in order to demonstrate how theory and practice are relevant to the development of forms of community involvement The book maps the attributes of community based projects by moving beyond simply bringing people together from a variety of disciplines and taking an approach which is transdisciplinary and applicable across cultures and genres Here all people including the community are ongoing contributors and can freely move between their own and others discipline specific arenas M2 differs from and extends on other works in this field of practice and research in that its transdisciplinary collaborative approach positions the community as a particular kind of discipline to create real change in diverse locations and fields of experience The book is in itself a model of community engagement as the researchers have formed a community of research and practice for change and have developed a transformative model for community engagement that is greater than the sum of its parts hence M2 M2 offers a valuable resource for students researchers academics practitioners policy developers and volunteers from the fields of architecture interior architecture health planning anthropology education home economics communication political studies and development studies
