Required Reading Priyasha Mukhopadhyay, 2024-08-20 How ordinary forms of writing including manuals petitions almanacs and magazines shaped the way colonial subjects understood their place in empire In Required Reading Priyasha Mukhopadhyay offers a new and provocative history of reading that centers archives of everyday writing from the British empire Mukhopadhyay rummages in the drawers of bureaucratic offices and the cupboards of publishers in search of how historical readers in colonial South Asia responded to texts ranging from licenses to manuals how they made sense of them and what this can tell us about their experiences living in the shadow of a vast imperial power Taking these engagements seriously she argues is the first step to challenging conventional notions of what it means to read Mukhopadhyay's account is populated by a cast of characters that spans the ranks of colonial society from bored soldiers to frustrated bureaucrats These readers formed close even intimate relationships with everyday texts She presents four case studies a soldier's manual a cache of bureaucratic documents a collection of astrological almanacs and a women's literary magazine Tracking moments in which readers refused to read were unable to read and read in part she uncovers the dizzying array of material textual and aural practices these texts elicited Even selectively read almanacs and impenetrable account books she finds were springboards for personal world shaping readerly relationships Untethered from the constraints of conventional literacy Required Reading reimagines how texts work in the world and how we understand the very idea of reading

Reading Nuruddin Farah F. Fiona Moolla, 2014 The Somali novelist Nuruddin Farah is one of the most important African writers today The central question that this book investigates is the relationship between modern identity and the novel as a genre Nuruddin Farah's novels are shown by Moolla to encompass the history of the novel from the proto realism of the acclaimed From a Crooked Rib to the modernism of A Naked Needle and the postmodernism of most notably Maps returning almost full circle with his most recent novel Crossbones Moolla examines his writing within the framework of Somali society and culture Islamic traditions and political contexts all of which are central themes in his work She also addresses Farah's engagement with women's lives his female characters and identities being at the heart of rather than peripheral to his stories something that has distinguished him from many other male African writers The book finally suggests that through his literary negotiation of the central contradiction of modern identity Farah comes close to constituting a subject who no longer is transcendently homeless but finds a home everywhere a fitting project for a writer who has been in exile for the greater part of his life F. Fiona Moolla is a Senior Lecturer in the Faculty of Arts at the University of the Western Cape in South Africa as well as a freelance writer and published author of short stories South Africa and Zimbabwe pb only Blue Weaver

The Self-Help Compulsion Beth Blum, 2020-01-28 Samuel Beckett as a guru for business executives James Joyce as a guide to living a good life The notion of notoriously experimental authors sharing a shelf with self help books might seem far fetched yet a hidden history of rivalry influence and imitation links these two worlds In The Self Help Compulsion Beth Blum reveals the profound entanglement of modern literature and commercial advice from the late nineteenth century to the present day Blum explores popular reading practices in which people turn to literature in search of practical advice alongside modern writers rebukes of such instrumental purposes As literary authors positioned themselves in opposition to people like Samuel Smiles and Dale Carnegie readers turned to self help for the promises of mobility agency and practical use that serious literature was reluctant to supply Blum unearths a series of unlikely cases of the love hate relationship between serious fiction and commercial advice from Gustave Flaubert s mockery of early DIY culture to Dear Abby s cutting diagnoses of Nathanael West and from Virginia Woolf s ambivalent polemics against self improvement to the ways that contemporary global authors such as Mohsin Hamid and Tash Aw explicitly draw on the self help genre She also traces the self help industry s tendency to popularize quote and adapt literary wisdom and considers what it might have to teach today s university Offering a new history of self help s origins appeal and cultural and literary import around the world this book reveals that self help s most valuable secrets are not about getting rich or winning friends but about how and why people read Reform as Learning

Lea Ann Hubbard, Mary Kay Stein, Hugh Mehan, 2013-10-18 Looking closely at the recent reform efforts in San Diego this book explores the full range of critical issues pertaining to urban school reform Drawing on the systemic school reform initiative that was launched in San Diego in the 1990s this book explores all layers of the school reform process from leadership in the central office to work with principals and teachers to the impact on how teachers worked with students in the classroom The authors draw on careful ethnographic research collected over the entire four years of the San Diego reforms in order to identify not only how teachers principals and other district educators were shaped by the large scale reforms but also the ways in which the reform unfolded In doing so the book shows more broadly how actors throughout a school system can change the views of leaders and impact the larger reform process Intellectual Imagination

Omedi Ochieng, 2018-06-25 The Intellectual Imagination unfolds a sweeping vision of the form meaning and value of intellectual practice The book breaks new ground in offering a comprehensive vision of the intellectual vocation Omedi Ochieng argues that robust and rigorous thought about the form and contours of intellectual practices is best envisioned in light of a comprehensive critical contextual ontology that is a systematic account of the context forms and dimensions in and through which knowledge and aesthetic practices are created embodied translated and learned Such an ontology not only accounts for the embeddedness of intellectual practices in the deep structures of politics economics and culture but also in turn demonstrates the constitutive power of critical inquiry It is against this background that Ochieng unfolds a multidimensional and capacious theory of knowledge and aesthetics In a critique of the oppositional binaries that now reign in the modern and postmodern academy binaries that pit fact versus value science versus the humanities knowledge versus aesthetics Ochieng argues for the inextricable intertwinement of reason interpretation and the imagination The book offers a close and deep reading of North Atlantic and African philosophers thereby illuminating the resonances and contrasts between diverse intellectual traditions The upshot is an incisively rich layered and textured reading of the archetypal intellectual styles and aesthetic forms that have fired the imagination of intellectuals across the globe Ochieng s book is a radical summons to a practice and an imagination of the intellectual life as the realization of good societies and good lives New Horizons in English 2 ,2003 Best Practices in Adolescent Literacy Instruction, Second Edition Kathleen A. Hinchman,Heather K. Sheridan-Thomas,2014-05-01 An authoritative teacher resource and widely adopted text this book provides a comprehensive overview of adolescent literacy instruction in the era of the Common Core State Standards CCSS Leading educators describe effective practices for motivating diverse learners in grades 5 12 building comprehension of multiple types of texts integrating literacy and content area instruction and teaching English language learners and struggling readers Case examples lesson planning ideas and end of chapter discussion questions and activities enhance the utility of the volume New to This Edition Extensive CCSS content incorporated throughout the book Chapters on disciplinary literacy text complexity and differentiated instruction Chapters on academic language writing instruction history and English language arts classrooms and coaching
