Woman Up Julia Havas, 2022-03-15 Critically analyzes the discursive relationship between cultural value and popular feminism in American television While American television has long relied on a strategic foregrounding of feminist politics to promote certain programming's cultural value Woman Up Invoking Feminism in Quality Television is the first sustained critical analysis of the twenty first century resurgence of this tradition In Woman Up Julia Havas's central argument is that postmillennial feminist quality television springs from a rhetorical subversion of the much debated masculine coded quality television culture on the one hand and the dominance of postfeminist popular culture on the other Postmillennial quality television culture promotes the idea of aesthetic generic hierarchies among different types of scripted programming Its development has facilitated evaluative academic analyses of television texts based on aesthetic merit producing a corpus of scholarship devoted to pinpointing where value resides in shows considered worthy of discussion Other strands of television scholarship have criticized this approach for sidestepping the gendered and classed processes of canonization informing the phenomenon Woman Up intervenes in this debate by reevaluating such approaches and insisting that rather than further fostering or critiquing already prominent processes of canonization there is a need to interrogate the cultural forces underlying them Via detailed analyses of four TV programs emerging in the early period of the feminist quality TV trend 30 Rock 2006 13 Parks and Recreation 2009 15 The Good Wife 2009 16 and Orange Is the New Black 2013 19 Woman Up demonstrates that such series mediate their cultural significance by combining formal aesthetic exceptionalism and a politicized rhetoric around a problematic postfeminism thus linking ideals of political and aesthetic value Woman Up will most appeal to students and scholars of cinema and media studies feminist media studies television studies and cultural studies

Smith, 2023-02-05 This book brings genre back to the forefront of the current transmedia trend Genres are perhaps the most innately transmedial of media constructs formed as they are from all kinds of industrial technological and discursive phenomena Yet few have considered how genre works in a multiplatform context This book does precisely that making a uniquely transmedial contribution to the study of genre in the age of media convergence The book interrogates how industrial technological and participatory transformations of digital platforms and emerging technologies reshape workings of genre The authors consider franchises such as Star Wars streaming platforms such as Netflix catch up services such as ITV Hub creative technologies such as virtual reality and beyond In setting the stage for the revival of genre theory in contemporary transmedia scholarship this book pushes forward understandings of multiplatform media and the emerging form and function of genre across contemporary culture
