Stray Reflections A Note Book Of Allama Iqbal:

Stray Reflections Sir Muhammad Iqbal, 1961 Stray Reflections Sir Muhammad Iqbal, Javid Iqbal, 1992 Stray Reflections Sir Muhammad Iqbal, Jāvid Iqbāl, 2006 A Descriptive Bibliography of Allama Muhammad Iqbal (1877-1938) Dieter Taillieu, Francis Laleman, Winand M. Callewaert, 2000 Excellent bibliographical work about Allama Muhammad Iqbal in the Arabic scripts Urdu Persian Arabic and so on has been published by the Iqbal Academy Lahore Our publication covers only what appeared in the Roman script English German French Dutch Italian Polish Czech Portuguese Swedish Finnish Turkish and Russian Many books have some kind of bibliographical list and we have tried to include all that material in the present publication With the generous support of the Ministry of Education Government of Pakistan the Iqbal Foundation Europe at the KU Leuven Belgium has endeavoured to combine meticulous and patient work in libraries with the most modern search on internet The result is an impressive tribute to Iqbal and to the research about him 2500 entries the latest entry dated 1998 A Schimmel Even if many superfluous or repetitive articles may have been published a researcher should look at even small contributions they may contain valuable information and rare insights The databank we compiled at the university of Leuven is composed of material taken from published works and from the on line services of the major university libraries From this it appeared that hundreds of scholars and authors have contributed to the immense databank about Iqbal The highest number of contributions is by Annemarie Schimmel S A Vahid and B A Dar followed by A Bausani K A Waheed A J Arberry and so many others The Political Philosophy of Muhammad Iqbal Iqbal Singh Sevea, 2012-06-29 This book reflects upon the political philosophy of Muhammad Iqbal a towering intellectual figure in South Asian history revered by many for his poetry and his thought He lived in India in the twilight years of the British Empire and apart from a short but significant period studying in the West he remained in Punjab until his death in 1938 The book studies Iqbal s critique of nationalist ideology and his attempts to chart a path for the development of the nation by liberating it from the centralizing and homogenizing tendencies of the modern state structure Iqbal frequently clashed with his contemporaries over his view of nationalism as the greatest enemy of Islam He constructed his own particular interpretation of Islam forged through an interaction with Muslim thinkers and Western intellectual traditions that was ahead of its time and since his death both modernists and Islamists have continued to champion his legacy Gabriel's Wing Annemarie Schimmel, 1963 This book presents the views of Muhammad Iqbal in regards to the essentials of Islam This includes the five Pillars of Earth and the Creed which is taught to every Muslim child The authors aims to presents Iqbal s way of thinking arguing suffering and the finding of mental peace in the security of his religion Sculpting the Self Muhammad Umar Faruque, 2021-08-17 Sculpting the Self addresses what it means to be human in a secular post Enlightenment world by exploring notions of self and subjectivity in Islamic and non Islamic philosophical and mystical thought Weaving together insights from several disciplines such as religious studies philosophy anthropology critical theory and neuroscience and arguing against views that

narrowly restrict the self to a set of cognitive functions and abilities this study proposes a multidimensional account of the self that offers new options for addressing central issues in the contemporary world including spirituality human flourishing and meaning to life

Mainsprings of Indian and Pakistani Foreign Policies S. M. Burke,1974

Modern Indian Political Thought Bidyut Chakrabarty,Rajendra K. Pandey,2023-09-29 This book is an unconventional articulation of the political thinking in India in a refreshingly creative manner in more than one way Empirically the book becomes innovative by providing an analytically more grasping contextual interpretation of Indian political thought that evolved during the nationalist struggle against colonialism Insightfully it attempts to unearth the hitherto unexplored yet vital subaltern strands of political thinking in India as manifested through the mode of numerous significant socio economic movements operating side by side and sometimes as part of the mainstream nationalist movement This book articulates the main currents of Indian political thought by locating the text and themes of the thinkers within the socio economic and politico cultural contexts in which such ideas were conceptualised and articulated The book also tries to analytically grasp the influences of the various British constitutional devices that appeared as the responses of the colonial government to redress the genuine socio economic grievances of the various sections of Indian society The book breaks new ground in not only articulating the main currents of Indian political thought in an analytically more sound approach of context driven discussion but also provokes new research in the field by charting a new course in grasping and articulating the political thought in India This volume will be useful to the students researchers and faculty working in the fields of political science political sociology political economy and post colonial contemporary Indian politics in particular It will also be an invaluable and interesting reading for those interested in South Asian studies

Muhammad Iqbal Chad Hillier,2015-07-10 Bringing together a diverse number of prominent and emerging scholars from backgrounds in political science philosophy and religious studies this book offers novel examinations of the philosophical ideas that laid at the heart of Iqbal s own

Reform and Modernity in Islam Safdar Ahmed,2013-05-30 The debate over Islam and modernity tends to be approached from a Eurocentric perspective that presents Western norms as a template for progress against which Islamic societies can be measured This misses the historical development of Muslim reformist thought that actively engages with the world around it and seeks to reconfigure Islam within the diverse conditions of modernity Safdar Ahmed paints a complex and nuanced picture that goes beyond the idea that Muslim reformers have either reproduced or reacted against Western ideas Rather Ahmed argues they have reconstructed and appropriated these ideas and so the thread of Western influence runs through modern Islamic thought on nationalism and sovereignty femininity and gender Ahmed uncovers new historiographical perspectives by critically examining the work of prominent intellectuals such as Muhammad Abduh Qasim Amin and Abdul A la Maududi

Islamic Connections R Michael Feener,Terenjit Sevea,2009 Well over half of the world s Muslim population lives in Asia Over the centuries a rich constellation of Muslim cultures developed there and the region is currently home to some of the most dynamic and important developments in contemporary Islam. Despite this, the internal dynamics of Muslim societies in Asia do not often receive commensurate attention in international Islamic Studies scholarship. This volume brings together the work of an interdisciplinary group of scholars discussing various aspects of the complex relationships between the Muslim communities of South and Southeast Asia. With their respective contributions covering points and patterns of interaction from the medieval to the contemporary periods, they attempt to map new trajectories for understanding the ways in which these two crucial areas have developed in relation to each other as well as in the broader contexts of both world history and the current age of globalization.

The Algebra of Warfare-Welfare Irfan Ahmad, Pralay Kanungo, 2018-12-24. Electoral democracy combines the ideas and practices of warfare and welfare where both work in tandem as near synonyms. India's robust electoral democracy exemplifies this combination in diverse forms. Critically analysing the 2014 Parliamentary elections beyond the seduction of immediacy and bare cold statistics, this book puts human subjectivity at the centre of election studies and through an anthropological sociological approach makes lives human and non-human lived and unlived or unlivable central to any understanding of elections and democracy. Crafting a new comprehensive approach, this volume looks at the 2014 elections in relation to the changing nature and forms of elections and democracy globally. Coming from multidisciplinary backgrounds, the contributors to this volume use ethnographic observations to open up a space for new theoretical and methodological reflections on the role of media in Indian elections, the shift to the right in 2014 and its consequences, the significance of traditional Hindu spaces such as the river Ganga in BJP's victory, the role of gurus like Baba Ramdev and the electoral choices available to and exercised by the minorities among others.

Postcolonial Bergson Souleymane Bachir Diagne, 2019-10-08. Henri Bergson has been the subject of keen interest within French philosophy ever since being championed by Gilles Deleuze and others. Yet his influence extends well beyond European philosophy, especially within Africa and South Asia. Postcolonial Bergson traces the influence of Bergson's thought through the work of two major figures in the postcolonial struggle: Muhammad Iqbal and L. opold S dar Senghor. Poets and statesmen as well as philosophers, both of these thinkers, the one Muslim and the other Catholic, played an essential political and intellectual role in the independence of their respective countries. Both found in Bergson's work important support for their philosophical, cultural and political projects. For Iqbal, a founding father of independent Pakistan, Bergson's conceptions of time and creative evolution resonated with the need for the reconstruction of religious thought in Islam, a religious thought newly able to incorporate innovation and change. For Senghor, Bergsonian ideas of perception, intuition and lan vital filtered in part through the work of the French philosopher Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, proved crucial for thinking about African art as well as foundational for his formulations of African socialism and his visions of an unalienated African future. At a moment of renewed interest in Bergson's philosophy, this book by a major figure in both French and African philosophy gives an expanded idea of the political ramifications of Bergson's thought in a postcolonial context.

Muslim Becoming Naveeda

Khan,2012-05-22 This thoughtful ethnography of Islam in Pakistan moves from the smallest scale a single worshiper striving to be a better Muslim who is seeking guidance at a neighborhood mosque to the largest examining the thought of poet and philosopher Muhammad Iqbal considered to be the spiritual visionary of the country Iqbal and the Western Philosophers
