The Star Gate Archives Edwin C. May, Sonali Bhatt Marwaha, 2019-04-24 Star Gate is the largest funded program in the history of psi research receiving about 19 933 million in funding from 1972 to 1995 Researchers from SRI International and later at Science Applications International Corporation in association with various U S intelligence agencies participated in this program Using the remote viewing method research focused on understanding the applicability and nature of psi in general but mostly upon informational psi Volume 1 Remote Viewing 1972 1984 and Volume 2 Remote Viewing 1985 1995 include all aspects of RV including laboratory trials and several operational results Volume 3 Psychokinesis focuses on laboratory investigations Volume 4 Operational Remote Viewing Government Memorandums and Reports includes an analysis of the applied remote viewing program and a selection of documents that provide a narrative on the behind the scenes activities of Star Gate In a total of 504 separate missions from 1972 to 1995 remote viewing produced actionable intelligence prompting 89 percent of the customers to return with additional missions The Star Gate data indicate that informational psi is a valid phenomenon These data have led to the development of a physics and neuroscience based testable model for the underlying mechanism which considers informational psi as a normal albeit atypical phenomenon The Star Gate data found insufficient evidence to support the causal psi psychokinesis hypothesis Canadian Journal of Physics ,2015 Non-Imaging Microwave and Millimetre-Wave Sensors for Concealed Object Detection Boris Y. Kapilevich, Stuart W. Harmer, Nicholas J. Bowring, 2014-09-17 In response to the ever increasing global threat of terrorist attacks the personal screening industry has been growing at a rapid rate Many methods have been developed for detecting concealed weapons and explosives on the human body In this important new book the authors discuss their experiences over the last decade designing and testing microwave and millimetre wave detection and screening systems It includes examples of actual devices that they have built and tested along with test results that were obtained in realistic scenarios The book focuses on the development of non imaging detection systems which are similar to radar These systems do not form a conventional image of the scene and the person s being screened Instead the sensors detect and analyze the effect that the body and any concealed objects has on a transmitted waveform These systems allow remote detection of both metallic and dielectric devices concealed on the human body in both indoor and outdoor environments The book discusses a number of sensor types including active millimetre wave sensors using the direct detection and the heterodyne approach active microwave sensors for CNR based object detection passive millimetre wave sensors and the role of shielding effects in operating non imaging MM wave sensors The goal of this book is to systemize the test results obtained by the authors helping specialists to develop improved screening systems in the future Another goal is to show how the use of non imaging systems can reduce the cost of the screening process Games and Play in HCI Kathrin Gerling, Ioanna Iacovides, Marc Herrlich, Z.
