Stave, 2006 This collection of essays critically interrogates Toni Morrison's use of the Bible in her novels examining the ways in which the author plays on the original text to raise issues of spirituality as it affects race gender and class Ideal for courses on Morrison or on explorations of the intersection of religion and literature this collection treats its topic with sophistication considering religion in its broadest possible sense and examining syncretic theologies as well as mainstream religions in its attempt to locate Morrison's work in a spiritual theological nexus

Critical Companion to Toni Morrison Carmen Gillespie, 2007 Toni Morrison winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1993 is perhaps the most important living American author This work examines Morrison's life and writing featuring critical analyses of her work and themes as well as entries on related topics and relevant people places and influences The Identifying Fictions of Toni Morrison J. Duvall, 2000-12-14 Although all published biographical information on Toni Morrison agrees that her birth name was Chloe Anthony Wofford John Duvall's book challenges this claim Using new biographical information he explores the issue of names and naming in Morrison's fiction and repeatedly finds surprising traces of the Nobel Prize winning author's struggle to construct a useable identity as an African American woman novelist Whatever the exact circumstances surrounding her decision to become Toni one thing becomes clear the question of identity was not a given for Morrison The Concise Oxford Companion to African American Literature William L. Andrews, Frances Smith Foster, Trudier Harris, 2001-02-15 A breathtaking achievement this Concise Companion is a suitable crown to the astonishing production in African American literature and criticism that has swept over American literary studies in the last two decades It offers an enormous range of writers from Sojourner Truth to Frederick Douglass from Zora Neale Hurston to Ralph Ellison and from Toni Morrison to August Wilson It contains entries on major works including synopses of novels such as Harriet Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl Richard Wright's Native Son and Lorraine Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun It also incorporates information on literary characters such as Bigger Thomas Coffin Ed Johnson Kunta Kinte Sula Peace as well as on character types such as Aunt Jemima Brer Rabbit John Henry Stackolee and the trickster Icons of black culture are addressed including vivid details about the lives of Muhammad Ali John Coltrane Marcus Garvey Jackie Robinson John Brown and Harriet Tubman Here too are general articles on poetry fiction and drama on autobiography slave narratives Sunday School literature and oratory as well as on a wide spectrum of related topics Compact yet thorough this handy volume gathers works from a vast array of sources from the black periodical press to women's clubs making it one of the most substantial guides available on the growing exciting world of African American literature Margaret Atwood and the Female Bildungsroman Ellen McWilliams, 2017-03-02 Examining Margaret Atwood's work in the context of the complex history of the Bildungsroman Ellen McWilliams explores how the genre has been appropriated by women writers in the second half of the twentieth century She demonstrates that Atwood's early work her own coming of age fiction including unpublished works as well as The Edible Woman Surfacing and Lady Oracle both engages with and works against the paradigms of identity which are traditionally associated with the genre Making extensive use of unpublished manuscripts in the Atwood Collection at the University of Toronto McWilliams uncovers influences that shaped Atwood's fashioning of identity in her early novels paying particular attention to Atwood's preoccupation with survival as a key symbol of Canadian literature culture and identity She also considers the genre's afterlife on display in Cat's Eye The Robber Bride Alias Grace The Blind Assassin and Moral Disorder in which the formulations of selfhood and identity in Atwood's early fiction are revisited and developed Atwood emerges as a writer who self consciously invokes and then undercuts the traditions of the Bildungsroman a turn that may be read as a means of at once interrogating and perpetuating the form McWilliams's book furthers our understanding of subjectivity in Atwood's fiction and contributes to ongoing conversations about the role gender and cultural contexts play in reframing generic boundaries

The Aesthetics of Toni Morrison Connor, Marc C., 2010-01-06

Nobel laureate Toni Morrison's novels have almost exclusively been examined as sagas illuminating history race culture and gender politics This gathering of eight essays by top scholars probes Morrison's novels and her growing body of nonfiction and critical work for the complex and potent aesthetic elements that have made her a major American novelist of the twentieth century Through traditional aesthetic concepts such as the sublime the beautiful and the grotesque through issues of form narrative and language and through questions of affect and reader response the nine essays in this volume bring into relief the dynamic and often overlooked range within Morrison's writing Employing aesthetic ideas that range from the ancient Greeks to contemporary research in the black English oral tradition The Aesthetics of Toni Morrison shows the potency of these ideas for interpreting Morrison's writing This is a force Morrison herself has often suggested in her claims that Greek tragedy bears a striking similarity to Afro American communal structures At the same time each essay attends to the ways in which Morrison also challenges traditional aesthetic concepts establishing the African American and female voices that are essential to her sensibility The result is a series of readings that simultaneously expands our understanding of Morrison's work and also provokes new thinking about an aesthetic tradition that is nearly 2 500 years old These essays offer a rich complement to the dominant approaches in Morrison scholarship by revealing aspects of her work that purely ideological approaches have obscured or about which they have remained oddly silent Each essay focuses particularly on the relations between the aesthetic and the ethical in Morrison's writing and between the artistic production and its role in the world at large These relations show the rich political implications that aesthetic analysis engenders By treating both Morrison's fiction and her nonfiction the essays reveal a mind and imagination that have long been intimately engaged with the questions and traditions of the aesthetic domain The result is a provocative and original contribution to Morrison scholarship and to scholarship in American letters generally Conversations with Audre Lorde Audre Lorde, 2004 Audre Lorde 1934 1992 the author of eleven books of poetry described herself as a Black feminist lesbian poet warrior mother but she added that this phrase was inadequate in capturing her full identity The interviews in this collection portray the many additional sides of the Harlem born author and activist She was also a rebellious child of Caribbean parents a mastectomy patient a blue collar worker a college professor a student of African mythology an experimental autobiographer in her book titled Zami a critic of imperialism and a charismatic orator Despite her intense engagement with the major social movements of her time Lorde told interviewers that she was always an outsider a position of weakness and of strength Most of her schoolmates were white She married a white legal aid attorney and after their divorce she was the partner of a white psychologist for many years These intimate alliances with whites caused some African Americans of both genders to question the depth of her solidarity Lorde expressed distrust of some white feminists and charged that they lacked real understanding of African American struggles Writing proved to be her powerful weapon against injustice Painfully aware that differences could provoke prejudice and violence she promoted the bridging of barriers These interviews reveal the sense of displacement that made Lorde a champion of the outcast and the forgotten whether in New York Mississippi Berlin or Soweto
