

World Building: Charts

Biome Chart

This 'Biome Chart' can come in handy when thinking about what type of world you wish to create, and what settings will appear within it. Fantasy worlds can have their own rules, but if you want your world map to feel a little more realistic, think about where you place biomes in regards to one another. An arid, dry wasteland which borders a rain-soaked jungle doesn't make much sense. Perhaps place a Savannah between them to make the setting consistent. Placing biomes which are adjacent to one another on the chart next to one another on your world map can create nice transitions from one area to another. A colder desert, for instance, becoming covered in more and more shrubbery until the sight of a Boreal Forest lingers behind rock formations on the horizon will feel much more thought out and real than a sandy desert meeting a snowy woodland.

World Creation Tree

This chart is based on the three pillars: Population, Geography and History. It shows that changing one area of your world can effect another connected area. Use this chart to take note of which 'pillars' of your world need to be expanded or reconfigured.
