Aanwinste Sept 1957 Towards concurrent planning of railway maintenance and train services Tomas Lidén, 2016-09-05 Efficiency in the public and freight transportation systems is of crucial importance for a society Railways can offer high capacity and relatively low environmental impact but require that several technical systems are tuned and operate well Specifically there is a very tight interdependency between infrastructure and trains which distinguishes railways from other transportation modes Thus maintenance of all the subsystems is needed Railways do also have some specific and complicating properties that influence maintenance and operations Most activities need exclusive access to the infrastructure and due to the geographic layout safety requirements and partitioning of the subsystems large portions of the network will be affected by each activity Furthermore several organisational units and resources are involved ranging from governments and regulatory bodies over operators and contractors to suppliers technical experts and work forces Thus railway maintenance is complicated to organize and consumes large budgets This thesis treats the planning and scheduling problems that concern railway infrastructure maintenance and the coordination with train traffic Mathematical methods and optimization are studied and used with the aim of advancing the knowledge about models for solving such problems The thesis contains three papers and presents 1 A survey regarding railway maintenance activities the major planning problems and the conducted research so far 2 A model for quantitative comparison and assessment of competing capacity requests from train operations and maintenance 3 An optimization model for integrated scheduling of both maintenance windows and train services The work can be helpful for practitioners as well as researchers who want to take further steps in this interesting and challenging area Based on the results that have been obtained future research directions are presented that may lead towards practical use of concurrent planning of railway maintenance and train services Handbook of Research on Emerging

Innovations in Rail Transportation Engineering Rai, B. Umesh, 2016-05-31 The rail based transit system is a popular public transportation option not just with members of the public but also with policy makers looking to install a form of convenient and rapid travel Even for moving bulk freight long distances a rail based system is the most sustainable transportation system currently available The Handbook of Research on Emerging Innovations in Rail Transportation Engineering presents the latest research on next generation public transportation infrastructures Emphasizing a diverse set of topics related to rail based transportation such as funding issues policy design traffic planning and forecasting and engineering solutions this comprehensive publication is an essential resource for transportation planners engineers policymakers and graduate level engineering students interested in uncovering research based solutions recommendations and examples of modern rail transportation systems Timetable University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 1994
