Social Welfare and Social Work in Southern Africa Ndangwa Noyoo, 2021-06-11 This book is written by Southern African social welfare social work social development social security and social policy academics practitioners and advocates who have varying degrees of experience. The authors who contributed chapters to this book added their perspectives to ongoing debates about academic areas in the region. Thus the book's primary objective is to discuss the development of social welfare and social work in Southern Africa. In doing so it endeavours to contribute to the existing body of knowledge on social welfare and social work in the region. The chapters are examined through different theoretical lenses and historical perspectives. In this book African scholars academics and practitioners provide a deep and critical reflection of social welfare social work and related disciplines during the colonial and post colonial era a period characterised by a deliberate move by Africa's political administrations to focus on nation building and to attempt to make Africa a global player. Despite being endowed with rich natural resources like minerals agriculture and solid family and extended family life the continent is weak globally. Furthermore the book focuses on the pre colonial period a golden thread running through the chapters. The book discusses the colonial era when Western countries capture and oppression of Africa characterised the continent's history. This book is an appropriate publication at this point in our history a resource that can be used to generate appropriate narratives and questions within the social welfare and social development sector particularly on delivery education and training.

Reconceiving Religious Conflict Wendy Mayer, Chris L. de Wet, 2018-01-17 Reconceiving Religious Conflict deconstructs instances of religious conflict within the formative centuries of Christianity the first six centuries CE. It explores the theoretical foundations of religious conflict the dynamics of religious conflict within the context of persecution and martyrdom the social and moral intersections that undergird the phenomenon of religious conflict and the relationship between religious conflict and religious identity. It is unique in that it does not solely focus on religious violence as it is physically manifested but on religious conflict and tolerance looking too at dynamics of religious discourse and practice that often precede and accompany overt religious violence.

Preparing 21st Century Teachers for Teach Less, Learn More (TLLM) Pedagogies Kumar, Pradeep, Keppell, Michael James, Lim,

Chee Leong,2019-12-27 The current trend of learner centeredness in education has been challenging many of the current ways of working especially in higher education institutions This rapid change in educational institutions demands educators acquire new sets of skills via continuous reflective practices Hence educators in higher education institutions are actively involved in research driven teaching and learning practices This change of role from mere content delivery to learning facilitators could be better achieved through a strong research driven community of practice Preparing 21st Century Teachers for Teach Less Learn More TLLM Pedagogies is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the application of practice based learning techniques in higher education institutions This publication establishes a platform for academics to share their best practices to promote teach less learn more pedagogies and learn reciprocally from the community of practice While highlighting topics such as interactive learning experiential technology and logical thinking skills this book is ideally designed for teachers instructional designers higher education faculty deans researchers professionals universities academicians and students seeking current research on transformative learning and future teaching practices Enlarging the Scope of Peace Psychology Mohamed Seedat,Shahnaaz Suffla,Daniel J.

Christie,2016-12-06 With the major goal of building an inclusive international community that promotes peace related research and action this volume reflects on local national and global peace engagement and works towards transdisciplinary understandings of the role of psychology in peace conflict and violence Drawn primarily from 14th Biennial International Symposium on the Contributions of Psychology the chapters focus on peacemaking or the pursuit of harmony in human relations and peacebuilding or equity in human relations with a special emphasis on voices from typically underrepresented areas in psychology such as the Global South In order to move beyond a Western centered idea of peace psychology the volume is divided into two major parts The first half of the volume puts an emphasis on peace psychology research and praxis in a number of geohistorical contexts including Malaysia Northern Ireland Thailand and Kashmir that bear on conflict harmony and equity in human relations Chapters in the second half of the volume fulfill the mandate of Biennial Symposia namely to create more equity in the production of peace theory and praxis by bringing forward the voices of scholars and change agents that are often unheard in peace discourses including a number of scholars and chapters from South Africa Additionally throughout the chapters the authors and editors of the volume emphasize emancipatory agendas as an important alternative to militarism and state sponsored violence With the aim of bringing forward voices from cultures and situations that are typically not included or highly visible in peace discourses Enlarging the Scope of Peace Psychology in Invited and Invented Spaces African and World Regional Contributions is a thought provoking timely and informative work Psychologists anthropologists sociologists political scientists activists public policy makers and all those interested in promoting peace and justice are sure to find this an invaluable and illuminating resource Disrupting Shameful Legacies Claudia

Mitchell,Relebohile Moletsane,2018-08-14 Much has been written in Canada and South Africa about sexual violence in the context of colonial legacies particularly for Indigenous girls and young women While both countries have attempted to deal with the past through Truth and Reconciliation Commissions and Canada has embarked upon its National Inquiry on Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls there remains a great deal left to do Across the two countries history legislation and the lived experiences of young people and especially girls and young women point to a deeply rooted situation of marginalization Violence on girls and women s bodies also reflects violence on the land and especially issues of dispossession What approaches and methods would make it possible for girls and young women as knowers and actors especially those who are the most marginalized to influence social policy and social change in the context of sexual violence Taken as a whole the chapters in Disrupting Shameful Legacies Girls and Young Women Speaking Back through the Arts to Address Sexual Violence which come out of a transnational study on sexual violence suggest a new legacy one that is based on methodologies that seek to disrupt colonial legacies by privileging speaking up and speaking back through the arts and visual practice to challenge the situation of sexual violence At the same time the fact that so many of the authors of the various chapters are themselves Indigenous young people from either Canada or South Africa also suggests a new legacy of leadership for change

Being Spiritual while Doing Research Volker Kessler, Marilyn Naidoo, Tanya van Wyk, Philipp Wenk, Although the topic of spirituality has been experiencing a renaissance since the end of the previous century it is not always associated with academic activities The book invites scholars from all fields to rethink this traditional divide between knowledge and spirituality offering fresh perspectives on how the two can coexist and enhance each other Twenty nine authors from across the world illustrate how scholarly pursuits in various disciplines can be deeply spiritual journeys Circular Economy for Buildings and Infrastructure Jian Zuo, Liyin Shen, Ruidong Chang, 2024-05-03 This edited volume covers theoretical and practical aspects of circular economy in building development offering chapters dealing with topics such as material design affordability of housing development waste management and recycling smart metering and more A particular focus is placed on various stakeholders points of view The book s chapters are co developed and contributed by multidisciplinary teams including both academics and industry practitioners The case study oriented approach taken here helps to facilitate the reader s understanding of how building sustainability can be achieved in the context of circular economy The building industry has significant environmental social and economic impacts As one of the biggest energy consumers and carbon emitters building sustainability has attracted wide attention globally Building projects and their associated activities consume a large amount of energy natural resources and water while producing a large proportion of wastes throughout their lifecycles The traditional linear approach of make use and dispose has been heavily criticized whilst the circular approach has gained momentum Indeed circular economy has emerged as one of key principles to manage sustainability related issues by means of focusing on the circularity of resources as well as the cost implications Balancing addresses the social and environmental justice challenge to live sustainably and well. It considers the consequences of our social, economic and environmental policy and governance decisions for this generation and the next. The book tests out ways to improve representation, accountability and regeneration. It addresses the need to take into account the ethical implications of policy and governance decisions in the short, medium and long term based on testing out the implications for self, other and the environment. This book recognizes the negative impact that humans have had on the Earth's ecosystem and recommends a less anthropocentric way of looking at policies and governance. The chapters discuss the geologic impact that people have had on the globe, both positive and negative, and brings awareness to the anthropocentric interventions that have influenced life on Earth during the Holocene era. Based on these observations, the authors discuss original ideas and critical reviews on ways to govern those who interpret the world in terms of human values and experience and to conduct an egalitarian lifestyle. These ideas address the growing rise in the size of the ecological footprints of some at the expense of the majority, the growth in unsustainable food choices and of displaced people, and the need for a new sense of relationship with nature and other animals among other issues. The chapters included in Balancing Individualism and Collectivism: Social and Environmental Justice encourage readers to challenge the sustainability agenda of the anthropocentric life. Proposed solutions to these unsustainable actions include structuralized interventions and volunteerism through encouragement and education with a focus on protecting current and future generations of life through new governmental etiquette and human cognizance.

Heidegger and Music Casey Rentmeester, Jeff R. Warren, 2022-02-02. Although philosophers have examined and commented on music for centuries, Martin Heidegger, one of the greatest philosophers of the 20th century, had frustratingly little to say about music directly. At least this volume, the first to tackle Heidegger and music, features contributions from philosophers, musicians, educators and musicologists from many countries throughout the world. It aims to utilize Heidegger's philosophy to shed light on the place of music in different contexts and fields of practice. Heidegger's thought is applied to a wide range of musical spheres including improvisation, classical music, electronic music, African music, ancient Chinese music, jazz, rock n roll, composition and musical performance. The volume also features a wide range of philosophical insights on the essence of music, music's place in society and the promise of music's ability to open up new ways of understanding the world with the onset of the technological and digital musical age. Heidegger and Music breaks new philosophical ground by showcasing creative vignettes that not only push Heidegger's concepts in new directions but also get us to question the meaning of music in various contexts.

Sustainable Development in Africa Walter Leal Filho, Rudi Pretorius, Luiza Olim de Sousa, 2021-07-09. This book serves the purpose of documenting and promoting African experiences on sustainable development which encompasses both formal and non-formal education. Sustainable development is very important to Africa but there is a paucity of publication which documents and promotes experiences from African countries. Due to their complexity, the interrelations between social, economic and political factors related to sustainable development especially at universities need to be better understood There is also a real need to showcase successful examples of how African institutions are handling their sustainability challenges It is against this background that this book has been produced It is a truly interdisciplinary publication useful to scholars social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies and private companies undertaking research and or executing projects focusing on sustainability from across Africa As African nations strive to pursue the UN Sustainable Development Goals it is imperative to cater for the information needs seen across the continent and foster the dissemination of experiences and case studies which may support both on going and future efforts The scope of the book is deliberately kept wide and we are looking for contributions across the spectrum of sustainable development from business and economics to arts and fashion administration environment languages and media studies
