most suggestive and most difficult of his writings The meticulously edited text published here as the first volume in the series The Later Works of John Dewey 1925 1953 spans that entire period in Dewey s thought by including two important and previously unpublished documents from the book s history Dewey s unfinished new introduction written between 1947 and 1949 edited by the late Joseph Ratner and Dewey s unedited final draft of that introduction written the year before his death In the intervening years Dewey realized the impossibility of making his use of the word experience understood He wrote in his 1951 draft for a new introduction Were I to write or rewrite Experience and Nature today I would entitle the book Culture and Nature and the treatment of specific subject matters would be correspondingly modified I would abandon the term experience because of my growing realization that the historical obstacles which prevented understanding of my use of experience are for all practical purposes insurmountable I would substitute the term culture because with its meanings as now firmly established it can fully and freely carry my philosophy of experience

The Later Works of John Dewey, Volume 16, 1925 - 1953 John Dewey, 2008 Typescripts essays and an authoritative edition of Knowing and the Known Dewey s collaborative work with Arthur F Bentley In an illuminating Introduction T Z Lavine defines the collaboration s three goals the construction of a new language for behavioral inquiry a critique of formal logicians in defense of Dewey s Logic and a critique of logical positivism In Dewey s words Largely due to Bentley I ve finally got the nerve inside of me to do what I should have done years ago What Is It to Be a Linguistic Sign or Name and Values Valuations and Social Facts both written in 1945 are published here for the first time

Safran, 2022-11-15 Recording Russia examines scenes of listening to the people across a variety of texts by Russian writers and European travelers to Russia Gabriella Safran challenges readings of these works that essentialize Russia as a singular place where communication between the classes is consistently fraught arguing instead that as in the West the sense of separation or connection between intellectuals and those they interviewed or observed is as much about technology and performance as politics and emotions Nineteenth century writers belonged to a distinctive media generation using new communication technologies not bells but mechanically produced paper cataloguing systems telegraphy and stenography Russian writers and European observers of Russia in this era described themselves and their characters as trying hard to listen to and record the laboring and emerging middle classes They depicted scenes of listening as contests where one listener bests another at times the contest is between two sides of the same person They sometimes described Russia as an ideal testing ground for listening because of its extreme cold and silence As the mid century generation witnessed the social changes of the 1860s and 1870s their listening scenes revealed increasing skepticism about the idea that anyone could accurately identify or record the unadulterated voice of the people Bringing together intellectual history and literary analysis and drawing on ideas from linguistic anthropology and sound and media studies Recording Russia looks at how writers folklorists and linguists such as Turgenev Dostoevsky and Vladimir Dahl as well as foreign visitors thought about the possibilities and meanings of listening to and repeating other people's words
