published serious science based work in Forensic Linguistics is predominantly written in English and focuses on casework from the English speaking world While the first aspect is understandable given that English serves as an international lingua franca in scientific discourse the second aspect presents a significant limitation for the field Should researchers assume that there is simply less crime in non English speaking areas of the world A more pertinent question might be What cultural disciplinary legal or legal cultural factors contribute to the lack of research in and on languages other than English In addition to addressing the underrepresentation of Romance languages in scientific publications related to forensic work the chapters in this handbook will also explore the reasons behind this unfortunate situation Designed to engage readers whether they are linguists legal professionals or simply interested individuals and to spark interest in Romance Forensic Linguistics this handbook follows three key objectives First we are committed to providing a comprehensive overview of the casework and research conducted in and on several Romance languages including Peninsular Spanish Catalan Brazilian Portuguese French Canadian French Italian and Romanian Second the chapters in this volume seek to understand why Forensic Linguistics has thrived more in some Romance speaking countries than in others Finally we aim to uncover the reasons for the slower development of Forensic Linguistics in regions where Romance languages are predominantly spoken

Linguistic Fingerprints Roger Kreuz, 2023-08-01 How much of ourselves do we disclose when we speak or write A person's accent may reveal for example whether they hail from Australia or Ireland or Mississippi But it's not just where we were born we divulge all sorts of information about ourselves and our identity through language Level of education gender age and even aspects of our personality can all be reliably determined by our vocabulary and grammar To those who know what to look for we give ourselves away every time we open our mouths or tap on a keyboard But how unique is a person's linguistic identity Can language be used to identify a specific person To identify or to exonerate a murder suspect To determine who authored a particular book The answer to all these questions is yes Forensic and computational linguists have developed methods that allow linguistic fingerprinting to be used in law enforcement Similar techniques are used by literary scholars to identify the authors of anonymous or contested works of literature Many people have heard that linguistic analysis helped to catch the Unabomber or to unmask an anonymous editorialist but how is it done LINGUISTIC FINGERPRINTS will explain how these methods were developed and how they are used to solve forensic and literary mysteries But these techniques aren't perfect and the book will also include some cautionary tales about mistaken linguistic identity The Cambridge

New Frontiers in Forensic Linguistics Monwabisi Ralarala, Russell Kaschula, Georgina Heydon, 2019-06-25 The field of forensic linguistics is a niche area that has not enjoyed much participation from the African continent The theme of language and the law in this book is one that straddles two important aspects of the legal history of South Africa in particular and how it has impacted on the country's legal and education systems The declaration by the United Nations of 2019 as The International Year of Indigenous Languages is opportune not only for the launch of this book but for what its research content tells us of the strides taken in ensuring access to justice for all citizens of the world in a language they understand The contributions by authors in this book tell the story of many African citizens and those hailing from beyond our borders who straddle the challenges of linguistic and legal pluralism in courtrooms across their respective countries It is our hope that the contributions made in this book will assist in ensuring human rights become a reality for global citizens where indigenous voices have not been heard and that these citizens will be free to give their testimonies in a language of their choice and that they may be heard and understood
