Geological Hazards in the UK D.P. Giles,J.S. Griffiths,2020-06-09 The UK is perhaps unique globally in that it presents the full spectrum of geological time stratigraphy and associated lithologies within its boundaries With this wide range of geological assemblages comes a wide range of geological hazards whether they be geophysical earthquakes effects of volcanic eruptions tsunami landslides geotechnical collapsible compressible liquefiable shearing swelling and shrinking soils geochemical dissolution radon and methane gas hazards or georesource related coal chalk and other mineral extraction An awareness of these hazards and the risks that they pose is a key requirement of the engineering geologist The Geological Society considered that a Working Party Report would help to put the study and assessment of geohazards into the wider social context helping the engineering geologist to better communicate the issues concerning geohazards in the UK to the client and the public This volume sets out to define and explain these geohazards to detail their detection monitoring and management and to provide a basis for further research and understanding      Annual Report of the American Historical Association American Historical Association,1908      Report on International Steel Cartels United States. Federal Trade Commission,1948      The Politics of Trafficking Stephanie A. Limoncelli,2010-02-23 Provides a historical ethnographic account of the first movement to combat trafficking in women and girls for prostitution initiated at an international congress in 1899 offering insights into gender and sexuality in global politics      The North Sea David A.C. Freestone,Ton Ijlstra,1990 The North Sea one of the most intensively used sea areas in the world may well be one of the most intensively regulated sea areas as well As human activity developed in the North Sea national later international regulations followed these developments The result has been what is commonly called a piecemeal approach The legal regime of the North Sea has developed in an incremental manner Thus one conventional instrument after the other covering different user functions like vessel source pollution fisheries ocean dumping land based pollution was adopted In contrast to more modern approaches these legal instruments have their own framework The result is that the instruments are scattered in many different documents even for the more well informed North Sea watcher it is difficult to obtain a comprehensive overview of the regulatory instruments The North Sea Basic Legal Documents on Regional Environmental Co operation offers a comprehensive view of the instruments dealing with all sources of marine pollution in the North Sea be they ocean dumping land based pollution or vessel source pollution The book contains many legal documents including maps tables It also contains non conventional instruments such as the texts of the declarations of the International North Sea Conferences held between 1984 1990 recommendations decisions of e g the Paris Commission on Land Based Pollution the Oslo Commission on Dumping Furthermore the book contains documentation on relatively new areas of environmental concern in the North Sea region i.e. nature conservation management of living resources The book supplements The North Sea Perspectives on Regional Environmental Co-operation also edited by David Freestone and Ton IJlstra which contains 26 essays on legal policy aspects of environmental protection in the North Sea Report of the Indian Tariff Board Regarding the Increase of the Duties on Steel India. Tariff Board,1924 The UK's energy supply Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Energy and Climate Change Committee,2011-10-25 The Government must start thinking strategically about energy security to protect the UK's energy supply against short term shocks and rising global energy prices according to a report by MPs on the Energy and Climate Change Committee Gas storage capacity needs to be increased in the UK to minimise the potential damage from supply interruptions or price spikes the report argues It reveals that the UK's current storage capacity amounts to only 14 days worth of gas supply a dangerously low level compared with France which has 87 days worth of gas storage Germany 69 and Italy 59 19 gigawatts GW of ageing electricity plant will close by 2018 and the UK will become increasingly reliant on energy imports as North Sea oil and gas reserves decline The report concludes that new electricity generation currently being built or planned will fill this gap But it urges the Government to ensure security of supply by delivering on its energy efficiency targets rolling out smart meters that can balance demand and maintaining a diverse energy mix Official Reports of the Debates of the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada Canada.
