WinScribe Digital Dictation is compatible with a wide range of manufacturer-independent input devices including digital voice recorders, handheld speech recorders, BlackBerry, Windows Mobile, and Nokia smartphone devices, mobile telephones, landline telephones, PC, notebook or PDA. These flexible input devices allow users to dictate from anywhere, at any time resulting in increased productivity, improved efficiency and swift document creation.

Integrate Data Systems

A key component when looking at how organisations may gain the best possible productivity out of software solutions is integrating the software into other 3rd party products to automate the manual tasks staff normally need to undertake. Integration not only speeds up the process, it also ensures that input information is consistent between systems.

The challenge for organisations is not only choosing the right solution to meet your business needs, but also leveraging it with your existing application investments. In the past, systems have been patched together in today's business environment, true application integration is not a choice, it's a necessity.

By providing web services based integration tools, WinScribe delivers the benefits of a totally integrated digital dictation solution leading the market with its advanced integration architecture. WinScribe's applications are built to be flexible and scalable for every client's requirements. WinScribe products are built on Microsoft architecture & make use of SOA & Microsoft .Net technologies. With built-in Software Development Kits, WinScribe can be tailored to provide the maximum benefit to your organisation. Because of WinScribe's advanced architecture, integrating your business applications with WinScribe is quick and easy.
