

Personal Letter

Dear [Name],

I hope this letter finds you well. I wanted to take a moment to reach out and let you know how much I appreciate our friendship. You have always been there for me, offering a listening ear and a helping hand whenever I needed it.

I am writing to you today because I have some exciting news to share. I have decided to pursue a new career opportunity, and I will be moving to [new location] next month. I am both excited and a bit nervous about this change, but I know that it is the right decision for me.

I wanted to let you know that I will truly miss you. You have been such an important part of my life, and I will always treasure the memories we have shared together. I hope that we will stay in touch, and that our friendship will continue to grow and flourish even though we will be living in different places.

Please take care and know that you are always in my thoughts.

Sincerely, [Your Name]

Language Learning, Gender and Desire Kimie Takahashi,2013-01-22 For many Japanese women the English language has never been just another school subject For them English is the tool of identity transformation and the means of obtaining what they passionately desire mobility the West and its masculinity Language Learning Gender and Desire explores Japanese women's passion for learning English and how they negotiate identity and desire in the terrain of racial sexual and linguistic politics Drawing on ethnographic data and popular media texts the book offers new insights into the multidirectionality of desire and power in the context of second language learning

Traveling Music Neil

Peart, 2004-09 Neil Peart decided to drive his BMW Z 8 automobile from L A to Big Bend National Park in Southwest Texas As he sped along between the gas gulping SUVs and asthmatic Japanese compacts clumping in the left lane and the roaring straining semis in the right he acted as his own DJ lining up the CDs chronologically and according to his possible moods Not only did the music I listened to accompany my journey but it also took me on sidetrips through memory and fractals of associations threads reaching back through my whole life in ways I had forgotten or had never suspected Sifting through those decades and those memories I realized that I wasn't interested in recounting the facts of my life in purely autobiographical terms but rather in trying to unweave the fabric of my life and times As one who was never much interested in looking back because always too busy moving forward I found that once I opened those doors to the past I became fascinated with the times and their effect on me The songs and the stories I had taken for granted suddenly had a resonance that had clearly echoed down the corridors of my entire life and I felt a thrill of recognition and the sense of a kind of adventure A travel story but not so much about places but about music and memories
