

Stop at approximately 10:00 and turn in PGT-1

After each question, identify variables and set up a system of equations.

1. Complex: In January, a newspaper (NP) reports of a certain percentage of students from a certain middle school who achieved in that achievement. After several weeks, another newspaper (NP) reports that the percentage of students who achieved in that achievement is 10% more than the percentage reported by the first newspaper. How many students from the middle school achieved in that achievement?

Variables: x = Number of students from the middle school who achieved in that achievement
 y = Number of students from the middle school who achieved in that achievement

- x = Number of students from the middle school who achieved in that achievement

$$\begin{aligned} x + y &= 100 \\ x &= 1.1y \end{aligned}$$

2. Food Market: In January, a certain number of students from a certain middle school bought a certain number of pounds of apples. The total number of pounds of apples bought was 100 pounds. In February, the same number of students from the same middle school bought a certain number of pounds of apples. The total number of pounds of apples bought was 120 pounds. How many pounds of apples did the students buy in January?

Variables: x = Number of pounds of apples bought in January
 y = Number of pounds of apples bought in February

- x = Number of pounds of apples bought in January

$$\begin{aligned} x + y &= 100 \\ x &= 1.2y \end{aligned}$$

3. Students: Several times a week, a certain number of students from a certain middle school go to a certain number of classes. The total number of students who go to the classes is 100. In February, the same number of students from the same middle school go to the same number of classes. The total number of students who go to the classes is 120. How many students go to the classes in January?

Variables: x = Number of students who go to the classes in January
 y = Number of students who go to the classes in February

- x = Number of students who go to the classes in January

$$\begin{aligned} x + y &= 100 \\ x &= 1.2y \end{aligned}$$

4. Class: Several times a week, a certain number of students from a certain middle school go to a certain number of classes. The total number of students who go to the classes is 100. In February, the same number of students from the same middle school go to the same number of classes. The total number of students who go to the classes is 120. How many students go to the classes in January?

Variables: x = Number of students who go to the classes in January
 y = Number of students who go to the classes in February

- x = Number of students who go to the classes in January

$$\begin{aligned} x + y &= 100 \\ x &= 1.2y \end{aligned}$$
