S. Murray, M. D. Cameron, 1987 Fire Engines Eddie Baker, 2018-08-23 More complex and imposing than any other vehicle in the British emergency services the fire engine has a long and interesting history The earliest water pumps had been developed by the eighteenth century basic manual pumps that had to be hauled around by people or horses and were often only used on fire insured premises In the nineteenth and twentieth centuries horse drawn steam powered fire engines and eventually motorised fire engines came to revolutionise firefighting offering far greater versatility and the brigades came to be run by the municipalities In this beautifully illustrated introduction Eddie Baker charts the history of fire engines and their variants and the increasingly complex equipment they have carried such as high rise ladders and high pressure hoses He also explains the wider history of the fire service and how the engines have been shaped by its needs and most importantly those of the firefighters themselves Surviving the Ride Steve Camp, Helmoed-Römer Heitman, 2014-09-19 Mine protected and mine resistant ambush protected MRAP vehicles are today standard in the US most major western armed forces and many other armies as a result of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan The South African Army was already routinely using mine protected armored personnel carriers and patrol vehicles forty years ago even if they looked primitive and ungainly A few years later the South African Army had reached the stage where it could deploy entire combat groups into battle zones equipped with only mine protected vehicles including their ambulances and supply trucks By then the mine protected vehicles had also become effective for use in combat rather than just protected transport the Casspir being the chief example More to the point they saved countless soldiers and policemen from death or serious injury and the basic concepts now live on in the various MRAP types in service today The valuable lessons learned by the South Africans with their early designs of these combat proven vehicles has led the country to become one of the global leaders in the design of MRAPs which are locally manufactured and exported around the world Surviving the Ride is a fascinating pictorial account featuring more than 120 of these unique South African developed
