Research in Education ,1971      The Objective Monitoring of Physical Activity: Contributions of Accelerometry to Epidemiology, Exercise Science and Rehabilitation Roy J. Shephard,Catrine Tudor-Locke,2016-08-02 This book examines the new knowledge that has been gained from the objective monitoring of habitual physical activity by means of pedometers and accelerometers It reviews current advances in the technology of activity monitoring and details advantages of objective monitors relative to physical activity questionnaires It points to continuing gaps in knowledge and explores the potential for further advances in the design of objective monitoring devices Epidemiologists have studied relationships between questionnaire assessments of habitual physical activity and various medical conditions for some seventy years In general they have observed positive associations between regular exercise and good health but because of inherent limitations in the reliability and accuracy of physical activity questionnaires optimal exercise recommendations for the prevention and treatment of disease have remained unclear Inexpensive pedometers and accelerometers now offer the epidemiologist the potential to collect relatively precisely graded and objective information on the volume intensity and patterns of effort that people are undertaking to relate this data to past and future health experience and to establish dose response relationships between physical activity and the various components of health Such information is important both in assessing the causal nature of the observed associations and in establishing evidence based recommendations concerning the minimal levels of daily physical activity needed to maintain good health

Resources in Education ,2000      Digital Media and Youth Discipleship Vo Huong Nam,2023-06-30 Today's youth grow up immersed in digital technology This presents a unique challenge to the church as it seeks to faithfully make disciples of the next generation What does it look like theologically and practically to minister contextually to those whose lives are permeated by social media and digital culture In this in depth study Dr Vo Huong Nam offers both social and theological insight into the task of discipling youth in the digital age He examines the impact of digital media on both society and young people and offers an overview of Christian responses to the changing technological landscape Engaging such authors as John Calvin Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Henri Nouwen he develops a constructive theology of spiritual formation relevant to the context of twenty first century youth He explores the implications of this theology on church practice urging the church to take seriously its call to be all things for all people Drawing specific examples from youth ministry in Vietnam he addresses practical questions of application and contextualization and suggests that silence solitude and prayer are spiritual disciplines uniquely vital for the digital age This book is an important resource for all those involved in discipling young people and longing to see today s youth come to fullness of life in Christ
