Lespinasse,2022-01-04 In 1957 Duke Ellington released the influential album A Drum Is a Woman This musical allegory revealed the implicit truth about the role of women in jazz discourse jilted by the musician and replaced by the drum Further the album s cover displays an image of a woman sitting atop a drum depicting the way in which the drum literally obscures the female body turning the subject into an object This objectification of women leads to a critical reading of the role of women in jazz music If the drum can take the place of a woman then a woman can also take the place of a drum The Drum Is a Wild Woman Jazz and Gender in African Diaspora Literature challenges that image but also defines a counter tradition within women s writing that involves the reinvention and reclamation of a modern jazz discourse Despite their alienation from bebop women have found jazz music empowering and have demonstrated this power in various ways The Drum Is a Wild Woman explores the complex relationship between women and jazz music in recent African diasporic literature The book examines how women writers from the African diaspora have challenged and revised major tropes and concerns of jazz literature since the bebop era in the mid 1940s Black women writers create dissonant sounds that broaden our understanding of jazz literature By underscoring the extent to which gender is already embedded in jazz discourse author Patricia G Lespinasse responds to and corrects narratives that tell the story of jazz through a male centered lens She concentrates on how the Wild Woman the female vocalist in classic blues used blues and jazz to push the boundaries of Black womanhood outside of the confines of respectability In texts that refer to jazz in form or content the Wild Woman constitutes a figure of resistance who uses language image and improvisation to refashion herself from object to subject This book breaks new ground by comparing the politics of resistance alongside moments of improvisation by examining recurring literary motifs cry and response the Wild Woman and the jazz moment in jazz novels short stories and poetry comparing works by Ann Petry Gayl Jones Toni Morrison Paule Marshall Edwidge Danticat and Maya Angelou with pieces by Albert Murray Ralph Ellison James Baldwin and Ellington Within an interdisciplinary and transnational context Lespinasse foregrounds the vexed negotiations around gender and jazz discourse

Music and the sociological gaze Peter J. Martin, 2013-01-18 In this important new book Peter J Martin explores the interface between musicological and sociological approaches to the analysis of music and in doing so reveals the differing foundations of cultural studies and sociological perspectives more generally Building on the arguments of his earlier book Sounds and society Dr Martin initially contrasts text based attempts to develop a social analysis of music with sociological studies of musical activities in real cultural and institutional contexts It is argued that the difficulties encountered by some of the new musicologists in their efforts to introduce a social dimension to their work are often a result of their unfamiliarity with contemporary sociological discourse Just as linguistic studies have moved from a concern with the meaning of words to a focus on how they are used a sociological perspective directs our attention towards the ways in which the production and reception of music inevitably involve the collaborative activities of real people in particular times and places

The Passion for Music: A Sociology of Mediation Antoine Hennion, 2017-07-05 Music is an accumulation of mediators instruments languages sheets performers scenes media and so on There is no musical object in itself music must always be made again In this innovative book Hennion turns the elusiveness of music into a resource for a pragmatic analysis by which collective process do we make music appear among us Rather than offering a sociology of music The Passion for Music listens to the lesson provided by the case of music this art of infinite mediations Learning from music allows us to transform the paradigm to be offered by sociology by confronting it from Durkheim and Weber to Bourdieu with a different way of considering objects For this task Hennion draws on aesthetics Adorno and art history Haskell Baxandall as well as science and technology studies and popular music studies Latour Frith DeNora As part of that project The Passion for Music presents a wide ranging series of case studies restoring attention to the rich and varied intermediaries through which music is brought to life from the debate around the reinterpretation of baroque music to the classroom the rock scene the classical music concert Bach's social career in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and the practices of musicamateurs today This is the first English translation of one of the most important works of French scholarship on music and society
