Ralph Pite, 2025-10-02 Edward Thomas 1878 1917 is a renowned poet Until recently his prose writing has by comparison been neglected and very often dismissed by critics Thanks not least to the multi volume new edition being published by OUP gen eds Guy Cuthbertson and Lucy Newlyn this body of work is being re evaluated This new study by Ralph Pite forms part of that undertaking it is the first to consider Thomas s prose on its own terms independently of the poetry that it preceded By considering all of Thomas s prose work in its wide variety of genres nature writing literary criticism fiction autobiography and by drawing for the first time on the whole range of his reviewing this study transforms understanding of his development The continuity of his critical perspective emerges his Celtic loyalties their nature and their depth are revealed both the complexity and the conviction of his politics are brought to light alongside his receptive alertness to innovative writing and his own originality and daring as a writer The view of his achievement generated by his interwar reception itself the outcome of societal mourning and griefwork is challenged so is the critical consensus regarding the quality of his prose and the reasons behind its changing styles across Thomas s career From all of this it becomes clear moreover how powerfully Thomas s work speaks in the contemporary moment of environmental and climate breakdown Thomas s prose seeks constantly to articulate a relationship of absolute interdependence between human beings and the natural world His writing is so exploratory and original because Thomas seeks to address the problematic reality that interdependence this truth of humanity s place in natural world is perceptible to Western eyes only as mystery The Stock Exchange Year-book ,1882

literature life writing and essays Focusing on a wide range of canonical and noncanonical writers including Charles Dickens the Brontes John Ruskin Christina Rossetti Jane Webb Loudon Anna Sewell and Richard Jefferies Victorian Writers and the Environment demonstrates the ways in which nineteenth century authors engaged not only with humans interaction with the environment during the Victorian period but also how some authors anticipated more recent attitudes toward the environment The Publisher ,1902 The Fortnightly Review ,1880 Victorian Environmental Nightmares Laurence W. Mazzeno,Ronald D. Morrison,2019-05-06 The twelve essays in Victorian Environmental Nightmares explore various environmental nightmares through applied analyses of Victorian texts Over the course of the nineteenth century writers of imaginative literature often expressed fears and concerns over environmental degradation in its wide variety of meanings including social and moral In some instances natural or environmental disasters influenced these responses in other instances a growing awareness of problems caused by industrial pollution and the growth of cities prompted responses Seven essays in this volume cover works about Britain and its current and former colonies that examine these nightmare environments at home and abroad But as the remaining five essays in this collection demonstrate environmental nightmares are not restricted to essays on actual disasters or realistic fiction since in many cases Victorian writers projected onto imperial landscapes or wholly imagined landscapes in fantastic fiction their anxieties about how humans might change their environments and how these environments might also change humans Flower painting in water colours Frederick Edward Hulme,1882
