Sentient Flesh R. A. Judy, 2020-10-02 In Sentient Flesh R A Judy takes up freedman Tom Windham's 1937 remark we should have our liberty cause us is human flesh as a point of departure for an extended meditation on questions of the human epistemology and the historical ways in which the black being is understood Drawing on numerous fields from literary theory and musicology to political theory and phenomenology as well as Greek and Arabic philosophy Judy engages literary texts and performative practices such as music and dance that express knowledge and conceptions of humanity oppositional to those grounding modern racialized capitalism Operating as critiques of Western humanism these practices and modes of being in the world which he theorizes as thinking in disorder or poesis in black foreground the irreducible concomitance of flesh thinking and personhood As Judy demonstrates recognizing this concomitance is central to finding a way past the destructive force of ontology that still holds us in thrall Erudite and capacious Sentient Flesh offers a major intervention in the black study of life The Washingtonian, 1894 The Negro Caravan Sterling A. Brown, Arthur Paul Davis, Ulysses Lee, 1941 The Devil's Music Giles Oakley, 1983 Earth and Sky Every Child Should Know Julia Ellen Rogers, 1910

Railroadin' Some Max Haymes, 2006 This groundbreaking book written by one of the foremost blues historians in the UK is based on over 30 years research exploration and absolute passion for early blues music It is the first ever comprehensive study of the enormous impact of the railroads on 19th and early 20th Century African American society and the many and varied references to this new phenomenon in early blues lyrics The book is comprehensively annotated and also includes a Discography at the end of each chapter *The Bengal reader. What's the Use of Walking If There's a Freight Train Going Your Way? Paul Garon, Gene Tomko, 2006 Another wonderful slice of history political cultural and social history Better yet it comes illustrated with a CD with 25 original recordings Plus of course the work is full of the lyrics art and photographs of people and their times The music and poetry of black workers in motion hoboing hitchhiking timbering mining railroading loving leaving fighting back and searching for a new job a new life and even a new world are brilliantly recorded and explained in this arresting collection David Roediger

Paul Garon has produced yet another masterpiece of cultural history. The stories and songs he gathers together in this remarkable book disrupt common notions of what we mean by freedom when it comes to black folk. Hoboes represented a significant segment of the black working class and their constant movements were both evidence of constraints and acts of freedom. And as he so eloquently demonstrates, the men and women who took to the road and their bards have much to teach us about America's bottom rail. Robin D. G. Kelley

Charles Wright Robert D. Denham, 2008. This work offers a complete reader's guide and handbook to the late poetry of author Charles Wright. It begins with a study of the poems in Chickamauga (1995), the earliest of which were published in the late 1980s, and continues through the seven volumes that followed: Black Zodiac (1997), Appalachia (1998), North American Bear (1999), A Short History of the Shadow (2002), Buffalo Yoga (2004), Scar Tissue (2006), and Littlefoot: A Poem (2007). The author includes an annotated commentary for each of the 230 poems covered in the work, providing background information such as perceived influences, parallels to other poets, historical explanations, and biographical details.

In The Son, an epic multigenerational saga of power, blood, and land, Philipp Meyer maps the legacy of violence in the American west and presents an intimate portrait of one family across two centuries. The Impossible Lives of Greta Wells, heralded as wonderful by John Irving, beautifully wrestles with the impossibility of what could be as a woman with nowhere left to turn undergoes radical electroshock therapy. In Together Tea, we meet a loving mother who is determined to make her daughter's life work out, one Excel spreadsheet at a time. The stories in The Peripatetic Coffin, which Alice Sebold called 100% Grade A storytelling, examine the ways in which the world we think we know can unexpectedly reveal its darker contours. In the beautifully written and epic Nathan Englander, Southern Cross the Dog, three childhood friends cope with the devastating aftermath of the Great Flood of 1927 in Mississippi. Visitation Street is urban opera writ large. Dennis Lehane's novel explores the reactions of a blue-collar community after a teenaged girl mysteriously disappears from the banks of their rough-hewn waterfront. And in Tampa, we inhabit the mind of Celeste, a smoldering 26-year-old middle school teacher who unrepentantly recounts her elaborate and sociopathically determined seduction of her 14-year-old student.
