Cheung, J. Fong, B. Siu, 2012-12-06 Modern computing management systems and application programs are often designed as open systems In an open environment the users application programs serving similar purposes though possibly implemented using different hardware or software technologies can interact easily and properly with one other But it is a big challenge in research and development to provide the means for integrating these technologies and reengineering the new or existing management systems so as to make all of the relevant components interoperable In case of databases because of the variety in data models and theory the interoperability and reengineering issues become even more complex and crucial especially for companies heavily involved in data management With the rapid advances in networking and database modeling technology old issues may have to be reinvestigated and new issues come up constantly It is our hope that this year s workshop the sixth in a series of annual events can provide a timely forum for database researchers and practitioners to share their recent experience and results in various aspects of this fast developing field This series of workshops has been organized by the Hong Kong Computer Society and financially supported by many local industrial and business companies This year the Cooperative Research Centre for Open Systems Technology located in the Department of Computer Science City University of Hong Kong has joined the organization team and the list of financial sponsors Database Systems For Advanced Applications '95 - Proceedings Of The Fourth International Conference Wang Ling Tok, Yoshifumi Masunaga, 1995-03-31 This volume contains three keynote papers and 51 technical papers from contributors around the world on topics in the research and development of database systems such as Data Modelling Object Oriented Databases Active Databases Data Mining Heterogeneous Databases Distributed Databases Parallel Query Processing Multi Media Databases Transaction Management Systems Document Databases Temporal Databases Deductive Databases User Interface and Advanced Database Applications Handbook on Enterprise Architecture Peter Bernus, Laszlo Nemes, Günter Schmidt, 2012-12-06 This Handbook is about methods tools and examples of how to architect an enterprise through considering all life cycle aspects of Enterprise Entities such as individual enterprises enterprise networks virtual enterprises projects and other complex systems including a mixture of automated and human processes The book is based on ISO15704 2000 or the GERAM Framework Generalised Enterprise Reference Architecture and Methodology that generalises the requirements of Enterprise Reference Architectures Various Architecture Frameworks PERA CIMOSA Grai GIM Zachman C4ISR DoDAF are shown in light of GERAM to allow a deeper understanding of their contributions and therefore their correct and knowledgeable use The handbook addresses a wide variety of audience and covers methods and tools necessary

Advances in Object-Oriented Database Systems Asuman Dogac, M. Tamer Özsu, Alexandros Biliris, Timos Sellis, 2013-11-09 Object oriented database management systems OODBMSs have generated significant excitement in the database community in the last decade This interest stems from a real need for data management support for what are called advanced application areas that are not well served by relational technology The case for object oriented technology has been made on three fronts First is the data modeling requirements of the new applications Some of the more important shortcomings of the relational systems in meeting the requirements of these applications include

- 1 Relational systems deal with a single object type a relation A relation is used to model different real world objects but the semantics of this association is not part of the database Furthermore the attributes of a relation may come only from simple and fixed data type domains numeric character and sometimes date types Advanced applications require explicit storage and manipulation of more abstract types e g images design documents and the ability for the users to define their own application specific types Therefore a rich type system supporting user defined abstract types is required
- 2 The relational model structures data in a relatively simple and flat manner Non traditional applications require more complex object structures with nested objects e g a vehicle object containing an engine object
