Women in the Fine Arts Janet A. Anderson,1991 Many women artists throughout history have generated a brilliant heritage that has been suppressed and left inaccessible for scholarly or public appreciation and study This book provides a remedy by making available literary references to women artists lives and social milieu and more importantly citing illustrations of their work for serious study Most of the references are drawn from unindexed sources in books periodicals exhibition catalogs and newspapers accompanied by an illustration guide that directs the reader to specific pictures for further study Subjects include architects painters and sculptors since the Renaissance photographers recent artists in performance video and computer fields and related areas of feminist aesthetics References are annotated if they represent a major or only work of the artist in question

The Memory of Tiresias Mikhail Iampolski,1998-10-26 The concept of intertextuality has proven of inestimable value in recent attempts to understand the nature of literature and its relation to other systems of cultural meaning In The Memory of Tiresias Mikhail Iampolski presents the first sustained attempt to develop a theory of cinematic intertextuality Building on the insights of semiotics and contemporary film theory Iampolski defines cinema as a chain of transparent mimetic fragments intermixed with quotations he calls textual anomalies These challenge the normalization of meaning and seek to open reading out onto the unlimited field of cultural history which is understood in texts as a semiotically active extract already inscribed Quotations obstruct mimesis and are consequently transformed in the process of semiosis an operation that Iampolski defines as reading in an aura of enigma In a series of brilliant analyses of films by D W Griffith Sergei Eisenstein and Luis Bu uel he presents different strategies of intertextual reading in their work His book suggests the continuing centrality of semiotic analysis and is certain to interest film historians and theorists as well as readers in cultural and literary studies
