Making Death Matter Tara Mehrabi, 2016-11-18 This thesis is a contribution to feminist laboratory studies and a critical engagement with the natural sciences or more precisely research on the biochemical workings and deadly relations of Alzheimer's disease emanating from a year of field work in a Drosophila fly lab The natural sciences have been a point of fascination within the field of gender studies for decades Such sciences produce knowledge on what gets to count as nature and natural healthy or sick normal or not and they have done it with great societal authority and impact throughout European modernity However feminist technoscience scholars argue that science and knowledge is socially produced and political too Concepts such as nature animal human body sex and life itself are not simply given natural realities but phenomena processed through the naturecultures of the laboratory Situated within such theoretical and methodological approaches this thesis wonders how scientific facts about Alzheimer's disease are made in the lab today What kinds of realities bodies and ethico political concerns are enacted Who gets to live and who gets to die in everyday laboratory practices Theoretically the thesis is grounded particularly within Karen Barad's agential realism and posthumanist performativity and as such it accounts for human and nonhuman entanglements through which AD is performed in the lab in relational ways In other words the thesis explores how AD is enacted in the bodies of transgenic fruit flies Drosophila melanogaster as these flies embody the disease live and die with it Last but not least the thesis explores the materialities of death dying embodiment and biological waste in a biochemistry lab as constitutive parts of the produced knowledge about AD Denna avhandling utgör ett bidrag till feministiska laboratoriestudier och är en kritisk analys av naturvetenskaperna. Nårmare bestämt är det en feministisk studie av forskning om Alzheimers sjukdom dess biokemiska verkningar och de olika relationer utifrån ett forskningsfältarbete som labbtekniker i ett flyglabb Naturvetenskaperna har under decennier fascinerat genusforskare Dessa discipliner formar kunskapen om vad som räknas som natur och naturligt hälsa och sjukdom normalt eller inte och de har gjort så med stor samhällelig auktoritet genom Europeisk modernitet Forskare inom feministiska teknovetenskapliga studier har länge hävdade att vetenskap också är social praktik med politiska implikationer Begrepp som natur djur och kropp och livet själv kan inte tas för givna utan formas också i laboratoriets naturkultur Med utgångspunkt i sådana feministiska teknovetenskapliga teoribildningar och metodologiska utgångspunkter bearbetar denna avhandling frågor om hur vetenskapliga fakta om Alzheimers sjukdom skapas i laboratoriet idag Vilka kroppar verkligheter och etiska politiska förhållningssätt aktualiseras Vem får leva och vem får dö i vardagliga laboratoriepraktiker Teoretiskt bygger avhandlingen framför allt på Karen Barads agentiella realism och den diskuterar sammanväningen mellan månskligt och icke månskligt samt det som kallas posthumanistisk performativitet i relation till Alzheimers sjukdom som den fysiska kroppsliga i transgena fruktflugor Drosophila melanogaster i laboratoriet I särskilt fokus står relationerna som skapas inom den
