Analysis for Financial Engineering David Ruppert, David S. Matteson, 2015-04-21 The new edition of this influential textbook geared towards graduate or advanced undergraduate students teaches the statistics necessary for financial engineering In doing so it illustrates concepts using financial markets and economic data R Labs with real data exercises and graphical and analytic methods for modeling and diagnosing modeling errors These methods are critical because financial engineers now have access to enormous quantities of data To make use of this data the powerful methods in this book for working with quantitative information particularly about volatility and risks are essential Strengths of this fully revised edition include major additions to the R code and the advanced topics covered Individual chapters cover among other topics multivariate distributions copulas Bayesian computations risk management and cointegration Suggested prerequisites are basic knowledge of statistics and probability matrices and linear algebra and calculus There is an appendix on probability statistics and linear algebra Practicing financial engineers will also find this book of interest Ontology-Based Development of Industry 4.0 and 5.0 Solutions for Smart Manufacturing and Production János Abonyi, László Nagy, Tamás Ruppert, 2024-01-01 This book presents a comprehensive framework for developing Industry 4.0 and 5.0 solutions through the use of ontology modeling and graph based optimization techniques With effective information management being critical to successful manufacturing processes this book emphasizes the importance of adequate modeling and systematic analysis of interacting elements in the era of smart manufacturing The book provides an extensive overview of semantic technologies and their potential to integrate with existing industrial standards planning and execution systems to provide efficient data processing and analysis It also investigates the design of Industry 5.0 solutions and the need for problem specific descriptions of production processes operator skills and states and sensor monitoring in intelligent spaces The book proposes that ontology based data can efficiently represent enterprise and manufacturing datasets The book is divided into two parts modeling and optimization The semantic modeling part provides an overview of ontologies and knowledge graphs that can be used to create Industry 4.0 and 5.0 applications with two detailed applications presented on a reproducible industrial case study The optimization part of the book focuses on network science based process optimization and presents various detailed applications such as graph based analytics assembly line balancing and community detection The book is based on six key points the need for horizontal and vertical integration in modern industry the potential benefits of integrating semantic technologies into ERP and MES systems the importance of optimization methods in Industry 4.0 and 5.0 concepts the need to process large amounts of data while ensuring interoperability and reusability factors the potential for digital twin models to model smart factories including big data access and the need to integrate human factors in CPSs and provide adequate methods to facilitate collaboration and support shop floor workers
