Someone Else S Conflict:

Living Your Dream, Not Someone Else's James Nussbaumer, 2020-11-06 In the personal research I have done in writing this book I lived and saw the effects of stress and loss and fear while learning the importance of self control self awareness and connectedness The men I have lived among behind bars in prison have taught me lessons that they don't realize they are teaching me It's what I most needed to know Besides them there are those few family members and friends who have supported me and have kept my hope alive for living my own dream come true Yes at this moment I am inking with pen these words into a composition journal from a prison cell where the words will next find their way to typing and editing then to publication I can see my work one day being in your hands I'll be honest in saying that I didn't write this book as being an acclaimed spiritual guru only as a man who has always been searching for what the world could not teach me My expertise does not prevail from years of contentment and having things fall my way but actually more so from being an individual who always sought for goodness of heart in myself and in others while having my own share of errors My thoughts extend to you in the form of these words from a man who talked himself down from many emotional ledges In prison every moment is a struggle just to keep the chains of oppression unlocked Leo Tolstoy wrote that Each time of life has its own kind of love At this time in my life those who are behind me are my true riches Margaret Mead once suggested that the deepest dream coming true for humans is to have someone who cares that we make it home safe I recall an old grocery store owner serving a sentence of thirty years to life for a murder he says he did not commit He'd already served thirty three years when attending a parole board hearing They gave him a definite release date of twelve more years and he was elated A dream come true just knowing he had a release date to look forward to His toothless smile with gray whiskers told me his children will be pleased He was now seventy six Those of you that know me understand how grateful I feel in here for only having to deal with the simple securities violation that landed me ten years by an example setting judge of which I've been told I will not fully serve I cannot fathom an entire life in prison Could you These men mostly of who serve life sentences that I live among have given me high expectation of myself that I want to extend on to you It is what A Course in Miracles calls The power of turning any situation that is not of love back into love by thinking differently Every day an urge inside me suggests what I need to do which is to be fully present and to patiently not waste time I want every moment of time while in here spent writing studying exercising or being helpful My time in prison is almost over and for that I am thankful During this brief time a pit stop so to speak the voice within me suggests I see things this way Life goes on so I've decided that as long as I am living I might as well live

Someone Else's Face in the Mirror Carla Bluhm, Nathan Clendenin, 2009-04-30 In 2005 surgeons in France removed part of the face from a cadaver and grafted it onto the head of a 38 year old woman grossly disfigured by a dog attack Three years later in December 2008 surgeons at the Cleveland Clinic announced they had performed the first U S face transplant Although modern culture is accustomed to pushing medicine and the human body beyond all limits the world s first partial face transplant and the seven that have followed have caused a stir that still reverberates globally This book begins with the story of Isabelle Dinoire the recipient of the first face transplant and chronicles her surgery and battles with tissue rejection Its scope widens with a look at how surgical teams including three U S transplant teams are in a global race to perform the first full face transplant and at how medical history has led up to this point with prior successful transplants ranging from body parts as simple as cornea to those as neurologically complicated as the heart a hand and a penis The most novel among these surgeries the face transplant conjures up particular and expansive psychological issues Authors Bluhm and Clendenin show how transplant recipients struggle with functional issues including a lifetime of anti rejection drugs a danger highlighted by the recent death of the second face transplant patient in China But just as challenging in the case of face transplant is the psychological effect on and potential threat to identity Who are you if suddenly your face or a significant portion of it is not what you were born with What is it like to look in the mirror and see a face that is not the one you have always had Dinoire lamented It will never be me That statement is an absolute simplification of the identity issues a face transplant can create explain the authors Bluhm and Clendenin show how across history and media humankind via medicine literature film and other media has dreamed of a day when face transplants would be possible With so many disfigurements occurring among the military in Iraq and experimental face transplants too expensive for implementation in the private sector it is likely that the U S military will take the reins and further face transplant techniques as quickly as possible to serve injured personnel

A Theory of Behavior in Organizations James C. Naylor, Robert D. Pritchard, Daniel R. Ilgen, 2013-10-22 A Theory of Behavior in Organizations develops a theory for organizational behavior or more accurately a theory of individual behavior within organizations of behavior The book begins by discussing a series of general issues involved in the theory of behavior in organizations It then describes the theory itself in three stages first the general structure of the theory second definition of the key variables and third the interrelationships between the variables Subsequent chapters show how the theory deals specifically with such issues as roles decision making and motivation The theory presented is a cognitive theory of behavior It assumes that man is rational or at least nonrandom for the most part and that as a systematic or nonrandom generator of behavior man's actions are explained best in terms of conscious thinking acts on the part of the individual The theory deals with why the individual chooses certain alternative courses of action in preference to others and thus it might properly be called a theory of choice behavior Whereas the emphasis is on the cognitive aspects of behavior considerable attention has been devoted to external noncognitive variables in the system that play meaningful roles in the determination of individual behavior
