Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,2011-05-17 Although most strategic metal reserves are unlikely to run out over the coming decades the perception of scarcity of certain minerals and metals may lead to increased speculation and volatility in price and supply Strategically important metals are vital to advanced manufacturing low carbon technologies and other growing industries and the Government should provide reliable information on potential resource risks in a coordinated and coherent way The UK also exports large quantities of scrap metal and waste electrical and electronic equipment WEEE often to developing countries This metal not only is a potential resource for the UK but it is also an example of the UK exporting its environmental problems elsewhere There are also concerns about the illegal export of WEEE which is often labelled as second hand equipment for re use and calls for safeguards to be put in place Despite a rate of 90% by weight metal recycling in the UK it is of great concern that some strategic metals are likely to be lost in the 10% not being recycled The report recommends Improving existing legislation to ensure companies implement requirements on reporting non financial information such as human rights and health and safety issues an evaluation by the Government of the potential for introducing similar legislation to that in the US whereby companies are required to produce detailed reports on conflict minerals that they use This report also brings the alleged activities of large dealers on the London Metals Exchange to the attention of the Office of Fair Trading Finally the report looks at domestic extraction and says planning regulations should not unnecessarily restrict the use of significant potential reserves and that domestic mining could alleviate risks associated with sourcing metals from external supply monopolies In parallel the Government has to invest in research to ensure that future domestic mining has the least possible environmental impact Dictionary and Thesaurus

The Mirror Of Light Rodney Collin,2017-03-14 Written in 1955 by a mystic who fully understood The Fourth Way The contents of this book was way ahead Wayne Dyer and Eckhart Tolle and only now is it being fully understood The Mirror of Light From the Notebooks of Rodney Collin We live our life in a mirror everything is reversed When we see a scene it is received in the brain reversed The rays go out cross and are received in reverse Reality exists in the place where the two lines cross if we can find it The same takes place in our thoughts we think that cause is effect and effect cause For us the physical is more real than the spiritual That which our senses perceive we call objective while all that is imperceptible to our physical senses we call unreal or imaginary We think sowing and reaping are essentially different and fail to understand that they are the same We regard birth and death as antitheses and have altogether forgotten that to die is to be born The Century Illustrated Monthly Magazine Josiah Gilbert Holland, Richard Watson Gilder, 1899
