IMPORTANT SAFETY INSTRUCTIONS

CAUTION: Read all of these instructions before you operate and save instructions for later use.

BASIC CONCEPT

The audio amplifiers in most televisions, even monitors, usually deliver only a few watts — not enough to properly drive external speakers connected to the set. The ASAP1 amplifies any local sound source (like a TV), delivering 20 watts per channel (RMS), and provides flawless automatic switching between the local TV and a remote house stereo system. When connected to both, the ASAP1 enables the room's speakers to play the house system normally, and then switch to the TV sound whenever the TV is on.

PLACEMENT

The ASAP1 is designed to operate completely automatically and is housed in a compact chassis that can be mounted out of sight. The unit can be placed horizontally on its rubber feet. When used with a TV set, it may be convenient to hide the unit on the back or side wall of the cabinet or bookshelf (not on the TV itself). A wall hanger bracket is supplied with the ASAP1 to aid in this installation. Mount the ASAP1 vertically with the heat sinks on the top. As with any other power amplifier, allow for adequate air circulation around the unit and do not mount it in direct sunlight or near a heat source such as hot air ducts or radiators.

INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS

ASAP1 AUTOMATIC SWITCHING STEREO POWER AMPLIFIER

DO NOT PLUG THE ASAP1 IN UNTIL ALL OTHER CONNECTIONS ARE MADE. MAKE SURE ALL SOURCE AMPLIFIERS BEING CONNECTED TO THE UNIT ARE OFF.

INPUT CONNECTIONS

There are two source inputs. The Default, or A, input is for the remote (house) music system which will play whenever the local source is off or completely muted. These inputs are at speaker-level. Connect the remote (house) music system here. The Sensing, or B, input is for the local source component such as a TV, CD player, tape player or portable stereo. Whenever this local source is turned on and there is an audio signal present at the B inputs, the ASAP1 automatically switches itself into the circuit amplifying the local signal and driving the room loudspeakers. The B inputs have both speaker-level connections and line-level connections (RCA jacks). Use either one to connect to the local system. If you use the speaker-level inputs, use bare wire and strip only enough wire (1/2") to fit into the slot in the terminal. Before inserting the wire, twist all its strands tightly to prevent strays that could cause a short circuit between + and - terminals! If you use the line level inputs, run RCA patch cords from the variable outputs on the TV set or other local source. If the local source has both line level and speaker level outputs use the line level outputs.

VIDEO TRIGGER

The B input relay may also be activated by the video trigger. This is a composite video input (RCA jack) which allows the ASAP1 to stay locked on to the local TV even when the audio signal is muted for an extended period of time. Run a single RCA patch cord from the video out jack on the TV to the video trigger input on the ASAP1. Note: The video jack is for triggering purposes only; video signal switching is not possible.

OUTPUT CONNECTIONS

Connect the local loudspeakers to the Speaker Out terminals on the back of the ASAP1. Use bare wire and strip only enough wire (1/2") to fit into the slot in the terminal. Before inserting the wire, twist all its strands tightly to prevent strays that could cause a short circuit between + and - terminals!

USING THE ASAP1

Connect the ASAP1 to an unswitched AC outlet. Power up the rest of the system and proceed with the adjustments below.
