Sorting Out The New South City:

Sorting Out the New South City Tom Hanchett, 2017-10-06 One of the largest and fastest growing cities in the South Charlotte North Carolina came of age in the New South decades of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries transforming itself from a rural courthouse village to the trading and financial hub of America's premier textile manufacturing region In this book Thomas Hanchett traces the city's spatial evolution over the course of a century exploring the interplay of national trends and local forces that shaped Charlotte and by extension other New South urban centers Hanchett argues that racial and economic segregation are not age old givens but products of a decades long process Well after the Civil War Charlotte's whites and blacks workers and business owners all lived intermingled in a salt and pepper pattern The rise of large manufacturing enterprises in the 1880s and 1890s brought social and political upheaval however and the city began to sort out into a checkerboard of distinct neighborhoods segregated by both race and class When urban renewal and other federal funds became available in the mid twentieth century local leaders used the money to complete the sorting out process creating a sector pattern in which wealthy whites increasingly lived on one side of town and blacks on the other

Sorting Out the New South City Thomas W. Hanchett, 1993 Reading, Writing, and Race Davison M. Douglas, 2012-01-01 Using Charlotte North Carolina as a case study of the dynamics of racial change in the moderate South Davison Douglas analyzes the desegregation of the city's public schools from the Supreme Court's 1954 Brown v Board of Education decision through the early 1970s when the city embarked upon the most ambitious school busing plan in the nation In charting the path of racial change Douglas considers the relative efficacy of the black community's use of public demonstrations and litigation to force desegregation He also evaluates the role of the city's white business community which was concerned with preserving Charlotte's image as a racially moderate city in facilitating racial gains. Charlotte's white leadership, anxious to avoid economically damaging racial conflict, engaged in early but decidedly token integration in the late 1950s and early 1960s in response to the black community's public protest and litigation efforts. The insistence in the late 1960s on widespread busing, however, posed integration demands of an entirely different magnitude. As Douglas shows, the city's white leaders initially resisted the call for busing but eventually relented because they recognized the importance of a stable school system to the city's continued prosperity. The City Remade Joseph Heathcott, 2002 Bodies of Work Edward Steven Slavishak, 2008-09-16 Cultural history of the relationship between labor and the city in turn of the century Pittsburgh which focuses on how the working class body was used to symbolize Pittsburgh as a city of industry
